Lebanon Asks Action Against Israeli Attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lebanon has asked the United Nations Security Council to take "appropriate and efficient means" to stop Israeli raids across the border, arguing that condemnation would not be enough.

The council debated Monday for 2½ hours on Lebanon's complaint about an Israeli raid Friday night on six Lebanese villages.

Israel was retaliating for the attack by three Arab guerrillas the day before on the town of Qiryat Shmonah in which 18 Israelis and the three Arabs were killed.

Foreign Minister Fouad Naffa of Lebanon told the 15-member council Israel would react with "indifference and contempt" to a condemnation.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy accused Israel of endangering the fragile Middle East truce by its actions in Lebanon and on the Syrian front.

"Israel must choose between war and peace," he said.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah replied that Lebanon must "prevent the use of its territory for attacks against Israel."

"If the Lebanese government permits Lebanon to become a lawless gangland, it is obvious that its neighbors will treat it as a gangland," he declared.

A spokesman for the United States, Israel's traditional ally, told newsmen that any condemnation of Israel must be balanced by a condemnation of Palestinian terrorism.

Meanwhile, Israeli and Syrian forces on the Golan Heights, after close combat and Israeli air attacks Sunday, returned to the artillery exchanges that have characterized most of the fighting there in the past month.

Both the Israeli and Syrian defense ministers visited their troops at the front Monday. While the Israeli minister, Moshe Dayan, was on Mt. Hermon, Syrian shells hit the area, but Dayan was unhurt, the Israeli command said. Two Israeli soldiers were wounded.

Radio Damascus said Syria's defense minister, Mustafa Tlas, also made a quick trip to Mt. Hermon and inspected the forward command headquarters of Syrian forces there.

In Jerusalem, Israeli President Ephraim Katzir's office said he has granted the Labor party more time to name a new premier to replace Golda Meir, who resigned last week and is now heading a caretaker government.

The statement said Katzir asked the country's biggest party to name its candidate "as soon as possible." Some sources said the president had given the Laborites until April 24, while other reports said his deadline was April 28.

Labor's leading contenders for the premiership are Minister of Labor Yitzhak Rabin; Yosef Almogi, the mayor of Haifa, and Justice Minister Haim Zadok.

AUCTION ARTICLES—Mrs. Henry Swope, acquisitions chairman for the Scioto Society gourmet dinner and auction, is pictured with several of the valuable donations which have been made for the sale—an antique yarn winder from Harriet Morris, a Hamadan oriental rug given by K. A. Menendian of Columbus and a set of Bavarian china from Mr. and Mrs. David Yates.

Auction Planned By Scioto Society

Scioto Society trustees and committee members from Pickaway County are busy with plans for the first annual Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast and auction to be held on the evening of May 17 at the Elks Hall in Chillicothe to raise money for the 1974 production season of "Tecumseh."

Mrs. Roger May and Nelson Embry are in charge of the banquet arrangements and they have engaged Executive Caterers from Columbus to handle the event. The menu has been finalized.

H'ors d'oeuvres: stuffed mushroom caps, water chestnuts wrapped in bacon and swedish meat balls. Buffet: broiled beef tenderloin, tiny stuffed chicken breasts with bing cherry sauce, tiny barbecued spareribs, seafood newburg, rice almondine, tossed salad, glazed Belgian carrots, fresh fruit platter, deluxe relish tray, rolls and butter, assorted pastries, coffee, tea and wine. Cocktails will be served preceding the dinner.

Chairman of acquisitions, Mrs. Henry Swope, has been working closely with her committee, Mrs. Don Miller Sr. and Mrs. H. N. Stevenson to obtain valuable and interesting articles for the auction, which will highlight the evening. Several area celebrities have been contacted by mail to donate an item to be sold and many interested friends of the Society have already made donations. In addition to the pictured contributions are a new 4'8" by 6'3" bright red carpet given by Dorothy Jones; 20 bags of Triple 15 fertilizer from Florizer Inc.; a 83" by 86" rose and blue antique handwoven coverlet with four inch fringe, which is signed "wove by F. A. Hesse, Somerset" donated by Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller Sr.; a wagon wheel from Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stevenson; a delight for Erickson glass collectors from Mrs. Clark Will; a piece of antique opalescent hobnail glass from Mrs. Tom Renick and a water color by Betty Griffith, which will be eagerly sought by collectors of her work and also by local history buffs, who will want to own a rare painting of the octagonal court house in Circleville as it appeared in 1836.

The committee is very excited about the quality of the merchandise it is receiving. More contributions are coming in every day and Mrs. Swope will gladly arrange pick-up when needed.

Invitations to the first annual Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast will be mailed this week by Mrs. Clark Will and her committee. Numbered tickets will be included and these numbers will be activated by the Chillicothe office.

Further information may be obtained by contacting any Scioto Society trustee.

Food Decontrolled; No Big Hikes Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council is seeking to reassure consumers that food bills will not rise sharply in the months ahead as a result of the end of economic controls from retail and wholesale food.

The council lifted price and wage controls from both the retail and wholesale food industries Monday, two weeks earlier than it had to. All of the administration's waning price controls program is scheduled to expire on April 30.

But the council said that while some stores might increase prices, the decontrol would not have any over-all adverse impact on food prices during the remainder of the year.

Actually, many consumers might hope for lower prices on the food shelf, since the cost of many agricultural products has been declining at the farm level for several weeks.

But a decline in food prices at the retail level is not in the works either, council officials say.

Kenneth Fedor, head of the council's food division, said retail prices probably will remain about the same as food stores seek to recover some of the profits lost in earlier months when farm prices were rising sharply.

Although food prices rose 20 per cent last year and strained many a family food budget to the breaking point, the council said the retail food industry was not responsible. It said the industry generally complied very well with the administration's price control programs of the past 2½ years and that profitability of food retailers only began to recover last year after a general decline from 1969 through 1972.

The council said of the $18 billion increase in consumer food expenditures last year, $12 billion went directly to pay for rising farm prices, $5.9 billion for higher costs of such items as transportation, wages and taxes, with only $100 million of the increase going to the food industry.

Still subject to the administration's price control is much of the food manufacturing industry, including bakeries, the dairy industry, the cereal industry and processors of frozen foods. The canning industry was decontrolled previously.

Only a few major industries remain subject to controls with only two weeks to go in the controls program.

The decontrol of the retail and wholesale food industry freed from wage controls about 2.5 million employees in the food industry.

Heavy Battle Hits Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — North and South Vietnamese forces battled for six hours in the Central Highlands south of Pleiku and more than 250 casualties were counted, the Saigon command announced today.

The South Vietnamese government also announced it is suspending its participation in political talks with the Viet Cong in Paris because of increased Communist cease-fire violations. The talks to set up a Council of National Reconciliation and Concord and to arrange for national elections have been going on since March 19, 1973, but have made no progress.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the command, claimed 182 North Vietnamese were killed in the battle Monday, many of them by air and artillery strikes.

Government losses included 21 troops killed, Hien said.

He said the battle developed after North Vietnamese forces shelled and attacked a government ranger battalion of about 400 troops.

The battle took place to the north of Plei Me camp, which was manned by American forces in the 1960s but is now under government control.

A barrage of 60 rockets also hit a government base camp nine miles south of Pleiku, killing 12 persons, the South Vietnamese command said.

Farther south in the Highlands, 21 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed in a battle near Dak Song, 120 miles north of Saigon, the command said.

The SLA claims it kidnaped Miss Hearst on Feb. 4.

Miss Hearst was identified from photographs taken by hidden cameras during the robbery. Pictures showed her with a U.S. Army carbine slung over her shoulder. A U.S. attorney recommended bail at $500,000 each for her and the three other women if they are caught.

The FBI said the bandits took $10,960. Two cars in which the robbers fled were recovered nine blocks away, but a search of a 20-block area by the FBI and police failed to turn up further clues.

The material witness warrant was issued for Miss Hearst in the absence of specific evidence indicating she participated in the hold-up "of her own free will" and because she may have "been acting under duress and coercion," FBI Special Agent Charles W. Bates said.

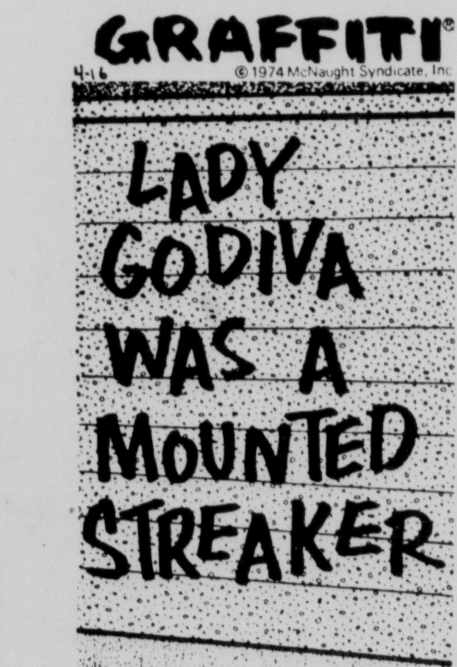

He told reporters, "We are not ruling out the possibility that she was a willing participant. On the other hand, there is evidence she was not."

Bates said a photo showing her with a gun also showed that "there was a gun held by another person on her."

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said, "If she was involved and investigation shows that, we're going to charge her as a bank robber. It is clear from the photographs she may have been acting under duress."

It was the first word of Miss Hearst since an April 3 taped message from the SLA in which she scorned her parents and said she had decided to "stay and fight" with her abductors.

Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, was in La Paz, Mexico, with his wife and two of his five daughters and could

Nixon Actions Unite Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee resumes its impeachment inquiry next week with its Democratic majority and Republican minority more united than ever, thanks largely to the White House.

Always in danger of being undermined by party-line squabbling, the panel gained new unity in the resentment shared by most of its members over White House handling of the request for tape recordings of 42 presidential conversations.

"There is a loyalty to the House as well as a loyalty to the party," says Rep. Hamilton Fish, R-N.Y. "But the administration doesn't seem to understand that."

Another factor in the current bipartisan spirit within the committee has been the work of Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., whose handling of impeachment inquiry disputes has won praise from members of both parties.

Both unifying influences were at work last Thursday when the committee voted 33-3 to subpoena the tapes after waiting in vain since Feb. 25 for the White House to deliver them.

Although angry enough to support a subpoena vote, most Republican members favored one calling for only partial delivery of the 42 tapes when the meeting began. They were thrown into confusion when White House lawyer James St. Clair, hoping to avoid a subpoena, telephoned an offer to deliver some tapes, but not all.

After urging support for St. Clair's offer, the Republicans learned to their embarrassment he would not put it in writing and they dropped it.

Rodino's willingness to compromise also has healed the most serious breach yet threatened in the committee, on the role of St. Clair, as Nixon's counsel, in the inquiry.

With that attitude, he has opposed the idea put forward by the White House and the committee Republicans that St. Clair should have a right to participate fully in the committee's activities, calling his own witnesses, presenting his own evidence, and cross-examining other witnesses.

The zeal with which the Republicans have supported the idea is only partly based on their desire to see that Nixon is treated fairly.

It also stems from disappointment among many of them in Albert Jenner, chief minority counsel of the impeachment staff. They had expected him to reflect a Republican viewpoint in the investigation but he has worked closely with Doar and joined him in all major staff decisions.

Uncertain how vigorously Jenner will challenge facts gathered by the staff that could damage Nixon, the Republicans want St. Clair to do the job.

Faced with determined Republican opposition and a split in his own party's ranks over the issue, Rodino yielded last week and agreed in principle to much of what the Republicans are asking. The details will be worked out after the committee returns next week.

It is likely St. Clair's role will be more restricted than some Republicans want, as Rodino tries to strike a balance between the need to preserve the constitutional purity of the process as he sees it, and the need to assure that Nixon is treated fairly.

Major Candidates For Ohio Offices Disclose Finances

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major candidates for statewide office in the May primary made income tax day 1974 the day to disclose their past financial histories.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, a candidate for re-election; U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, and John Glenn, candidates for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, unveiled their 1973 incomes Monday.

In other political news, Rep. Charles Fry, R-75 Springfield, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, proposed a public school financing plan modeled after a Michigan system.

James Nolan, an opponent of Gilligan for the Democratic nomination, urged the governor to return a "whopping surplus" collected from income taxes, unused parochial aid funds and interest on unspent funds to the people.

Nolan estimated the state has a $326 million surplus in its treasury in the first nine months of fiscal 1974. Nolan recommended the funds be channeled to schools to avoid additional school tax levies.

Fry, who is running against former Gov. James Rhodes and Columbiana County Engineer Bert Dawson Jr., said the Michigan plan provides that the state add enough money to each mill of a school district's property tax to assure $40 per mill for each pupil, a statewide minimum.

Fry said Ohio's current system, initiated in 1935, is too complex for legislators, school officials and the public to understand.

Gilligan said he and his wife earned $45,875 last year and paid federal income taxes of $11,501. Metzenbaum disclosed that he and his wife paid federal taxes of $50,422 on a taxable income of $372,194. Glenn said he paid $29,074 taxes on earnings of $119,275 for him and his wife.

"I have stated repeatedly that five years ago I would have considered a request to make public my personal financial records an invasion of my privacy," Gilligan said in a statement.

"But in light of the scandals at all levels of government in recent years . . . I now feel that the invasion of privacy is warranted if the people of the state and this nation are to regain their faith in their elected and appointed leaders," he said.

Glenn renewed his attacks on Metzenbaum for withholding his income tax returns for earlier years. Glenn made a lengthy disclosure of his own tax returns earlier this year. Metzenbaum contends he has revealed more of his finances than any other U.S. senator.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied sharply today, stimulated by predictions that interest rates would soon turn downward again.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 10.56 at 854.35, and gainers outdistanced losers by about an 8-to-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the principal catalyst for the advance evidently was a prediction from New York's First National City Bank that short term interest rates would go as low as 6 per cent by late summer. The rapid climb of money rates lately has put most banks' prime lending rates at a record-tying 10 per cent.

Florida Power was the Big Board's most active stock, unchanged at 22½ in trading that included a 177,500-share block at 22.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .33 at 93.82.

The Amex volume leader was National Kinnay Corp., unchanged at 7½.

Claim Energy Programs Mostly Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency says the government's programs for energy conservation tend, so far, to be "a lot of rhetoric" instead of the "No. 1 priority" they should be.

Russell E. Train said in an interview Monday, "It is generally accepted that there should be efforts to reduce demand, but I don't think anyone has tried to make really a clear fix on the numbers."

Train was commenting about a proposal by Russell W. Peterson, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, to cut drastically the growth of energy use in the United States.

Peterson said, in another interview, that there is indeed agreement on "a major emphasis on energy conservation," but he added: "What is 'major' has yet to be determined."

Energy chief William E. Simon, whose Federal Energy Office has authority over energy-conservation programs, said on March 29: "Our energy conservation goal is to cut back in the growth in American energy consumption from the 4 to 5 per cent annual rate of increase over the past 20 years, to approximately 3 per cent."

Peterson, in contrast, urges cutting the energy growth rate to no more than 1.8 per cent.

"I'm going to try to sell as many people as I can on this lower goal," Peterson said. He said he would meet soon with Simon.

Train said he was studying Peterson's energy conservation plan.

"All the specific, concrete programs tend to be focused on the supply end — the breeder reactor, coal conversion — that's where the action is."

Mitchell Questioning Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell undergoes more cross-examination today in his criminal conspiracy trial after once again saying he is innocent.

Mitchell's codefendant, onetime Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, may take his place on the witness stand before the day is done. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" Mitchell was asked in the windup of his direct testimony Monday.

"Absolutely not guilty of any of the charges," replied Mitchell in a flat but firm voice.

The trial recessed with the 60-year-old Mitchell still under cross-examination by Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wing.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of obstructing a massive Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of international financier Robert L. Vesco, in exchange for the latter's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

The former Cabinet members are charged with conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury.

50 OU Students Go On Strike

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Some 50 Ohio University student workers went on strike today at the Nelson Commons cafeteria, citing refusal of union recognition by the university as one of their grievances.

Student Mark Stachwell, a union organizer, said a few non-academic employees refused to cross the picket lines. A university spokesman said the cafeteria, the university's largest, was open this morning.

The union said university recognition, pay increases, hiring practices and grievance procedures were the major issues in the work stoppage. The union represents about 200 of the school's 1,200 student employees.

Dick Patton was a special guest. He is the field representative from the Ohio Commission on Aging, serving Pickaway Senior Center. He explained the new area planning program which is being formulated throughout the State. Pickaway is in Area 6 which includes Franklin County and 6 other surrounding counties. The planning will cover all types of public services and will involve local, county and state agencies of all kinds.

In the case of the senior citizens programs, grant money will be handled through the present Franklin County Council on aging, which will be re-named within a short time. Patton explained also that through recent changes in federal laws, there will be an extension of federal and state funding support for the Pickaway Senior Center, for at least three years beyond the March 31, 1975 deadline which was originally set.

Some discussion was held regarding the commissioners support of the Senior Center. The legality of the question has been resolved by the prosecutor, but the bookkeeping technicalities remain to be determined.

Lunch together followed the meeting. The next regular meeting will be May 8 at the Center, with the executive committee meeting at 10 a.m. and the entire Council at 10:30 a.m. There will be a special goal planning session at the Center on Monday, April 29 at 9 a.m.

Harrison Twp. Emergency Squad Certified By State

CERTIFIED—Donald Coffin (left) field representative for the Ohio Department of Health and Harrison Twp. fire chief R. E. Featheringham apply the department's certification emblem to the side of the township's emergency vehicle.

Chief R. E. Featheringham of the Harrison Twp. Volunteer Fire Department has announced the department's emergency medical service has been certified to be satisfactory under the criteria of the Ohio Department of Health and the National Highway Safety Act.

The Ohio Department of Health's Emergency Medical Services Coordinating Program was created as a certification program for emergency ambulance services. The program evaluates individual services to determine whether they measure up to present day standards.

Training, vehicles, equipment and communications are some of the items graded to determine if the service merits certification.

On April 5, Donald Coffin, field representative of the Ohio Department of Health, met with Chief Featheringham at the engine house located in Ashville and Coffin certified the service to meet all requirements of the program.

The service must be recertified each year by the department of health to assure that all standards are being maintained.

Harrison Twp. Fire Department has been providing emergency service to the residents of Harrison, Madison and Walnut Twp. and the village of Ashville since June, 1973. The emergency medical service consists of 22 squadsmen, all of whom have completed the 60-hour emergency medical services training, a fully equipped emergency vehicle and a heavy rescue truck.

The Ashville based department has answered 65 calls since Jan. 1 and a total of 215 since the service was initiated.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Beginning May 1, new minimum wage laws involving both salary increases and extended coverage will apply to over 56 million workers in the country.

The minimum wage changes are the product of three years of debate in Congress, most of it centering on how much to increase the minimum wage, how long it would take to go into effect, who would be covered by it and whether the youth differential would be retained or not. A primary factor in all of these considerations was the impact these changes would have on the economy and how best to deal with inflation in the process.

There is no question that inflation was a major reason for wanting to increase the minimum wage in the first place. The cost-of-living has jumped by leaps and bounds since the last wage increase and those workers under the minimum wage have been caught in an economic vise squeezing more and more real purchasing power out of their dollars.

As a result, the new law will raise the minimum wage to an ultimate figure of $2.30 for all employees covered by it. The increases will take effect gradually with increments on a yearly basis. Specifically, most workers salaries would be raised to $2.00 an hour on May 1st. This includes all nonagricultural workers who were covered by the minimum wage act prior to the 1966 amendments. On January 1, 1975, their paychecks would be upped to $2.10 per hour and on January 1, 1976, they would reach the $2.30 an hour limit. Workers not covered until 1966 or until the new 1974 amendments would get $1.90 per hour initially on May 1, 1974 and would have subsequent raises to $2.00, $2.20 and $2.30 an hour on January 1st of the next three years.

Cancer Crusade Business Canvass Scheduled

In the category of workers newly covered by these 1974 amendments are federal, state and local employees, retail and service employees, domestic service or household workers, conglomerate employees (in agriculture), telegraph agency employees, motion picture theater employees, logging employees, and shade-grown tobacco processing employees. Roughly, this amounts to an additional 6.9 million workers covered by minimum wage legislation.

Agricultural employees under minimum wage legislation would receive a new salary of $1.60 on May 1st. In addition, they would enjoy 20 cents per hour increments on January 1st of each of the next three years, ultimately getting $2.30 per hour by January 1, 1978.

The new law also makes some changes in the employment of students. Full-time students can be employed at wage rates less than those prescribed in the law in retail and service establishments, agriculture, and institutions of higher education at which they are enrolled. The law stipulates that they may be employed at a wage rate of not less than 85 percent of the applicable minimum wage rate or $1.60 per hour, whichever is higher. A special certificate from the Department of Labor would be needed by the employer to hire students in this manner, however, which would acknowledge the employee's intent to work the students on a part-time basis not exceeding 20 hours in any workweek except during vacation periods. The employer would also have to show that hiring students at lower wages would not create "substantial probability of reducing the full-time employment opportunities" for other workers. The number of student workers allowed in retail or service establishments would be limited to the proportion applicable to the establishment in the preceding year, the maximum proportion to which the establishment was ever entitled or a proportion equal to 10 percent of its total workforce, whichever is greater. An employer who hires four students or less at a subminimum wage, however, could do so without following the traditional precertification process and educational institutions could also employ their own students without having to follow this procedure.

It has been eight years since the minimum wage has been increased and these new raises are a matter of simple justice for the millions of Americans covered by it. The changes are long overdue but hopefully now they will bring the salaries of these workers to a more realistic economic level.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Alex dutifully halted his car at the stop sign. At that point, which was about 30 feet back from the corner, his vision of the intersection was blocked by some high bushes. Nevertheless, he moved briskly into the crossing.

Result: a collision with a car coming along the other street.

Was Alex guilty of negligence? He insisted that he was not, pointing out in a court hearing that he had brought his car to a full stop at the sign.

"That's all the law requires," he said. "I stopped, looked, and listened at the designated place."

But the court found him guilty of negligence anyhow. The court said a "blind" corner imposes an extra duty on motorists—regardless of stop signs or traffic signals—to proceed with caution.

The law does recognize, however, that caution is a matter of degree. For example:

Another man also entered an intersection that he could not see because of shrubbery. But this time, the man edged forward at a snail's pace, glancing in both directions. Even though he still got in the way of an oncoming car and caused a collision, a court ruled afterward that he could not be held legally liable.

"The law does not require the impossible," said the court. "One cannot be held guilty of negligence because he is unable to see through impenetrable objects or to bend his vision around them."

What about the responsibility for making the intersection blind in the first place? Unless a special statute so provides, the local government ordinarily cannot be held liable for this kind of hazard.

However, courts have occasionally placed the blame on a private property owner who has brought such an obstruction into existence. Liability has been based on the theory that the condition of his premises could foreseeably cause some luckless motorist, some day, to get hurt.

The contestants are Sen. Harry L. Armstrong, R-17 Logan, and his former Senate colleague, now a House member, Rep. Oakley C. Collins, R-92 Ironton.

Armstrong shoved through his committee the tough strip mine bill that now is law.

"He drove me out of business," Collins told a friend of Armstrong.

Collins, 58, had been a strip mine operator until the bill became law.

The prize both are going after in the basically Republican district is the seat now held by Armstrong.

Reapportionment two years ago forced Collins to run for the House after 18 years in the Senate. He previously had one term in the House.

Armstrong has been in the Senate since 1966. He served four years in the House and has been a county commissioner and trustee.

District makeup has changed since reapportionment. Armstrong did well in garnering Democratic votes in the north. Now it is predominantly Republican with most of the GOP majority in Collins' backyard.

"I'll make a deal," grinned Collins. "I'll take my people along the Ohio River and he can keep everything in Hocking County."

It's a deal Armstrong won't buy. He is hoping to pick up a lead in Ross and Athens counties that will offset any Collins' majority along the river.

Armstrong also is hoping "Oke," as he calls Collins, isn't as popular back home as once he was. Collins squeaked into his House seat, but only four counties were involved.

The 17th Senate district includes eight counties and parts of three others. It runs from the Franklin County border to the Ohio River.

"I won't have the money 'Oke' has," said Armstrong, "but he'll know he's been in a fight."

Armstrong predicted Collins will spend $35,000 to his $18,000.

Both men have similar campaign styles. Both are great believers in what former President Lyndon B. Johnson called "pressing the flesh."

Armstrong jumped his campaign off to an early start, introducing a bill to make the bridge across the Ohio River in Ironton toll free. Ironton is Collins' home town.

Legislators chuckled. Collins only smiled. "He'll need more than that to beat me," he said.

Nightclub Comic Faces Tax Term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nightclub, television and movie entertainer Richard Pryor has pleaded guilty to one count of failing to file an income tax return for 1967.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Joel Levine said Monday that Pryor's income for 1967 exceeded $68,000. The government dropped charges against Pryor for failure to file returns for 1968-70 on income put at $181,000.

Pryor, 34, could receive as much as a year in prison and a $10,000 fine as a result of the plea. Federal Judge Manuel Real set sentencing for May 6.

Heed The Warnings

Hundreds dead, property damage into the high millions, small towns all but obliterated from the map. This is the signature left by the most destructive series of simultaneous tornadoes in nearly a half century. The destruction spread over numerous states of the South and Midwest subjected a third of the nation to the onslaught of one of nature's more vicious outbursts.

Caring for human injuries is the first order of business

Fewer Farms

Decline in the number of farms is continuing as cropland is being replaced by housing developments or new industries, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Farmers themselves are continuing to reduce the total by buying out other farmers and combining farms to reduce operating costs per acre.

The trend on the farm is under constant check. Many farmers are still convinced they face a choice of extending their holdings or getting out. They are convinced the day of the diversified farmer with his varied crops is gone.

Yet there are many rugged farmers who are fighting to hold on to small operations. There are many part-timers in the field. Some are on their way to becoming bigger operators. Like their city counterparts, farm wives are taking on jobs to aid the family fortunes. Small farmers themselves have taken jobs in industry to increase their incomes.

This situation is reflected in various studies of who earned last year's farm income. The consensus of these is that more than one-third of the total was credited to men farming on a part-time basis.

was that tornado warnings were so common a large part of the population apparently paid little attention.

Such warnings are common in the geographical belt visited most often by tornadoes, but so are conditions which generally precede formation of the storms. The Weather Service cannot guarantee a tornado's formation.

Only the foolish ignore the warnings unless they see a dark funnel approaching. By then it could be too late.

Ohio Weather

By The Associated Press
A high pressure system is expected to dominate Ohio's weather picture through Wednesday, bringing fair skies to the state. One exception is the possibility of some light showers in the extreme south Tuesday afternoon.

This shower area will develop in response to a weak low passing eastward south of Ohio. Temperatures will grow warmer across the state Tuesday afternoon with the return of sunshine.

The overcast which hung over the state Monday began to clear from the west during the night and by sunrise skies over the western two-thirds of the state had cleared. The temperatures at daybreak ranged from the low 30s under clear skies in the west, to the low 40s in the cloud-covered east.

Federal officials say the move will mean no interruption of food and medical services or child care for victims of an April 3 tornado.

Meanwhile, a disaster suboffice opened Monday in the federal building in Cincinnati to serve storm victims in the area.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it possible to have gall bladder disease without gall stones? I have just had X-rays and no stones were seen.

Mrs. H. M. B., Fla.

Dear Mrs. B.:

The gall bladder, like all other organs of the body, can become infected and inflamed.

In most instances this condition, known as cholecystitis, is caused by the irritation of a small stone. When once the tiny tubes leading to and from the gall bladder are irritated, the lining becomes swollen and the passage of bile is interfered with.

Pain is probably the most outstanding symptom of this condition. The pain, normally located in the right upper portion of the abdomen, may radiate to the shoulder and to the back.

The severe pain may simulate a variety of conditions which must all be ruled out before the gall bladder can positively be identified as the culprit.

Disease of the liver, the stomach and even pneumonia and heart disease may be confused with this difficult diagnosis.

X-ray studies with dyes can show evidence of gall bladder infection, even in the absence of stones.

I have been taking antihistamine

drugs for many months. Can my allergy become resistant to the drug?

Miss E. N., Ohio

Dear Miss N.:

This is an unlikely explanation for the persistence of your allergic symptoms. Yet it would be worthwhile to shift from one antihistamine to another. The choice, of course, should be made by your physician who can best evaluate the situation.

If antihistamines are ineffective, then further allergic study and treatment should be considered.

Is it possible for someone who is markedly overweight to be anemic?

Mr. T. W., La.

Dear Mr. W.:

Your assumption is wrong that people who are overweight eat nutritious foods and therefore should not be anemic.

There need be no relationship between the two.

It must be also emphasized that there are many different types of anemia completely unrelated to dietary intake. Only a detailed study of the blood can accurately show the kind and the severity of the anemia and point the way to treatment.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The outcry against those big oil company profits illustrates the public doubts about the established ethics and goals of business and the slow, frustrating search for something new.

Isn't it the goal of business to make money? Every last nickel it can earn within the law? Until the game rules are changed it can be argued that to do so is the responsibility of corporate officers to shareholders.

But off and on for the past few decades the country has showed little faith in that philosophy. During the past weekend Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent said:

"If everyone rushes to grab every fast nickel, the inflation fires will be ignited anew and there will be a certain and volatile reaction from Congress and the people."

Dent was referring to the removal of Phase 4 price restraints April 30, but neither he nor anyone else has declared what should be the new criterion of corporate performance. If not profits, what?

One of the problems, it seems, is bigness itself. Another is shortages.

Bigness has long been feared in the United States because of the dangers of monopoly. But is it possible for small companies to compete internationally with the European and Japanese giants? Unlikely.

Is it fair for a company to profit from shortages? The old supply-demand law is that prices rise when demand exceeds supply. But can it apply in an age of pervasive and critical shortages?

A curious, shortage-related problem involves the dichotomy of thought that must be assumed by some corporate officers, such as in oil companies and utilities, in telling customers not to buy their product.

If it isn't the duty of a company to sell as much as it can and make as much profit as it can, then what is its duty? The need for an answer is pressing; forthcoming, it would relieve much confusion.

Various businessmen, government officials, academicians and others have probed this endlessly deep question, but a consensus hasn't yet been developed. What agreement there is appears to be this:

A corporation's duty is to make money for stockholders and workers but only if in the process it can also be a good corporate citizen.

The requirement isn't that it merely operate within the law, in regard to ecology and fair wages and working conditions, but that it promote the good of the community in ways that aren't

A Moveable Feast

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

Easter rabbit, the symbol of fertility ... accredited with laying eggs in nests prepared for it at Easter, or with hiding them away for children to find."

See?
The British, models of decorum, once tended to go ape on Easter Monday. Bands of women would single out some poor gent who happened to be walking through their neighborhood, overcome him and "heave" him over their heads three times. Then they sprinkled him with water and each of them kissed him. He was expected to give them money even though they had loused up his day, ruined his doublet and waistcoat, and probably dropped him on his head.

On Easter Tuesday, back there when knighthood was in flower, it was the men's turn. A pack of them would spot a maiden fair, give her the old heave-ho amidst a flurry of petticoats, and buss her. "Originally it would seem to have been a spring rite to promote the growth of crops," says the Britannica with a perfectly straight face.

About 136,000,000 Easter Cards will be exchanged in the U.S. this year. The Postal Service being what it is, you'll get yours around Whitsuntide. Easter cards hold third place in card-giving, according to Hallmark, who should know. Christmas is No. 1, followed by Valentine's Day.

Easter Island, a heady place off the coast of Chile, got its name from Dutch admiral Jacob Roggeveen, who "discovered" it, as voyagers and buccaneers used to say so arrogantly, on Easter Sunday, 1722. Some pretty interesting people got there somewhat ahead of him, people who carved those incredible long-eared heads from volcanic quarries and moved them up the slopes of Rano-Raraku, an extinct volcano. Some of the heads weigh 50 tons. The logistics compare with the building of the Pyramids. On Easter Island it is presumed that the massive army of statuary was pulled up the slope by hundreds or thousands of workers along a path studded with round pebbles and lubricated by seaweed.

No one with a jigger of Irish blood in him can fail to thrill (and weep) over the Easter Rising of 1916 and the martyrs who went to their deaths for searching out freedom.

A final thing about those eggs:
At Chester (Eng.) Cathedral, the bishop and the dean are said to have engaged in an egg-throwing match with the choir boys when the antiphon "Quem quaeritis" was sung on Easter day.

Worst waste I've heard of since a daughter-in-law painted and distributed three dozen eggs she forgot to boil first.

Hearing Set On Prison Picketing

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A hearing on a preliminary injunction was scheduled today to stop picketing members of two unions from blocking entry to the Ohio State Reformatory.

Some 260 of the prison's 450 employees walked out Saturday leaving a skeleton crew of 60 supervisory and treatment workers to handle the 1,700 inmates, state officials said.

The Department of Rehabilitation and Correction won a restraining order Saturday in Richland County Common Pleas Court to unclog prison entrances of pickets.

The order was ignored, according to Joe Ashley, a spokesman for the corrections department.

The two unions—the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association—reportedly submitted a list of complaints five months ago. No disagreement over wages was involved.

Ashley said the complaints ranged from unsanitary conditions in the dining room to safety and security procedures.

Ohio officials and union representatives were in late-night bargaining talks Monday.

The grievances were presented last week to Bennett J. Cooper, director of the state agency. He was out of town, however, when Monday's meeting was announced.

Connecticut Doctor Aids Xenia Victims

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A Southport, Conn., physician gave $20 Monday as the first contributor to Marathon '74, a 540-hour broadcast to raise money for tornado-devastated Xenia, Ohio, and to support public radio station WKSU-FM.

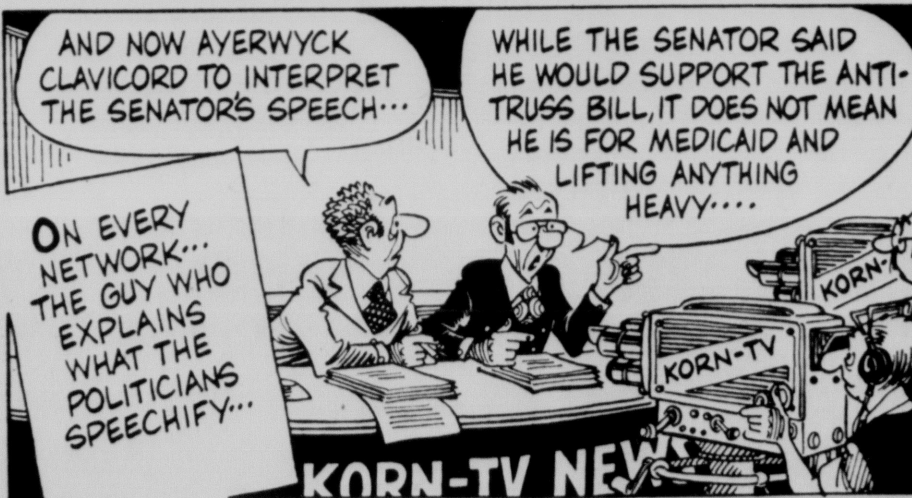

Half the proceeds of the April 19-21 marathon will go to Xenia, the station said.

Dr. Donald C. Bell said he found a helium balloon promoting the event on his driveway Easter Sunday.

"I was moved to think that the wind that could bring so much destruction could also bring a message for help," he said in a telephone call. "I only wish I could give more."

Two Park Rangers Complete Law Program

Claude Kifer, A. W. Marion Park Ranger and Steven Flack, Deercreek Reservoir Park Ranger, Friday, completed Ohio's most extensive training program in law enforcement and state park operation offered to park employees.

The eight-week training course, conducted by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, "marks the first time in Ohio history that rangers have been given thorough, professional instruction to prepare them for the demands of their jobs," said Natural Resources Director William B. Nye.

According to Nye, the program is a direct response to Governor John J. Gilligan's mandate that state employees be provided the best possible training for the positions they fill.

The rangers, all employees of DNR's division of parks and recreation, received 360 hours of both academic and physical training.

The course work consisted of more than 50 subjects, including communications, enforcement techniques, juvenile problems, narcotics, search and rescue procedures, human relations, public relations, self-defense and environmental education.

"The increasing number of people visiting our state parks has brought with it a corresponding increase in the number of problems that rangers encounter in the day-to-day operation of the parks," Nye said. "That is why it is imperative to set up a structured training program designed specifically for park rangers.

The course was conducted at the Lake Hope Environmental Resource Center in Zaleski State Forest.

Two more training sessions are scheduled for the remainder of Ohio's full-time park rangers, and the course will then be conducted annually to train new rangers.

The program is being funded by a $59,000 federal grant allocated by the U.S. Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration plus $21,000 in state funds to pay salaries and provide equipment and supplies for a project director and four park district coordinators.

"State funds for the training program were made possible by the state income tax," Nye said. "I think people will agree the money is well-spent. I know the rangers had an opportunity to put their training to good use during the last days of the training

Juvenile Cases Include 10 Buckeye Mart Thefts

Ten cases involving youths charged with shoplifting at Buckeye Mart were heard in Pickaway County Juvenile Court this past week. Juvenile Judge Guy G. Cline also heard cases against four other delinquent offenders and one traffic offender. Five youths were released from probation and three cases were dismissed during the week's docket.

A 16-year-old Adelphi boy and a 13-year-old Route 4 girl were arrested for shoplifting at Buckeye Mart and were placed on probation for three years each. A sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission was suspended in each of the cases.

The girl along with a 14-year-old Tarlton miss faced charges filed by a citizen for theft. The girls were charged with stealing a ladies purse and its contents and a class ring. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission in each of the cases and placed both girls on probation for three years. The Tarlton girl was also ordered by the court to complete 50 hours of community work.

Three years probation was the session when they were dispatched to the tornado-ravaged city of Xenia at the direction of Governor Gilligan. They provided help with traffic control and manned security posts.

sentence for a 14-year-old Route 2 boy and two Route 1, Laurelville girls charged with shoplifting at Buckeye Mart. The girls were 13 and 14 years of age.

Shoplifting charges were filed by Buckeye Mart authorities against a 17-year-old Route 4, Chillicothe boy. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and ordered the boy to complete 50 hours of community work. The youth was also placed on probation for three years.

A violation of probation charge followed a charge of theft at Buckeye Mart filed against a 14-year-old Route 4, Circleville girl. Judge Cline suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission in both cases and ordered the girl to continue on probation. She was also ordered into jail for four weekends.

Two Route 1, Laurelville sisters were also cited into court for stealing at Buckeye Mart. The girls ages 14 and 15 were each placed on probation for three years. One year probation was the sentence for a 12-year-old Route 2, Ashville boy arrested for the same charge.

Sgt. Larry Pontious of the Circleville Police Department filed charges in the juvenile court against a 16-year-old Hillsboro boy for breaking and entering the Ralston Purina Company and grand larceny. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and placed the boy on probation for three years. He was also ordered into detention for five weekends and given credit for two days already served in jail.

A 15-year-old Route 1, Williamsport girl faced three charges in the juvenile court. Three years probation was the sentence after she was convicted of being incorrigible, truant from school and truant from home. Judge Cline also suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission.

The mother of a 13-year-old child was ordered to pay support, expenses and poundage for her child who was placed in the care of the Pickaway County Children's Services because it lacked proper care and support. The parents of two Route 4 children were also ordered by the court to pay support for their children.

A case charging David Weaver, 17, 381 Cedar Heights with failure to yield the right of way to a pedestrian was dismissed for lack of prosecution. Another dismissed case involved a 15-year-old Ashville girl charged with excessive absence from school.

Charges of neglect were dismissed by the assistant county prosecutor, James R. Kingsley, in which a 12-year-old Route 1, Ashville child was reportedly neglected by his parents.

Two Circleville boys, ages 13 and 14, had charges against them dismissed. The youths were charged with attempted theft.

Aggravated menacing of two children brought three years probation to a 13-year-old Tarlton boy.

The court found two area children to be neglected. A 17-year-old Route 1, Ashville girl was ordered into the temporary care of the Pickaway County Children's Services and a 12-year-old Route 1, Ashville boy was placed in the temporary care of his grandmother.

Breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling and theft of $625 in cash from the residence brought three years probation to a 17-year-old Route 3, Orient boy. The boy also received a suspended sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission.

In conclusion of the week's cases, five boys were released from probation. Most of the youths had served the time sentenced them by the court for charges filed earlier.

Transit Firm Being Sued For Failure

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati taxi driver who organized a spring trip to Florida for 124 Ohio college students is suing a Dayton transit line which failed to provide buses for the trip.

Dante Soiu is seeking $239,246.48 in damages from Megacity Transit Lines for breach of contract and civil fraud.

Soiu's lawyer filed legal action Monday in Dayton. Soiu charged the bus line had cost him a sizeable deposit with a Florida motel.

Named as defendants in the suit were Megacity President David P. White; Sharon Lewis, the firm's secretary-treasurer and Marian Peters, office manager and head agent of the company's Hamilton station.

Left stranded were students from University of Cincinnati and Xavier University.

Soiu said he planned the trip to pay off debts for his college education. He is an honor graduate from Xavier.

He said students would be repaid their $125 deposits "as soon as the action is settled and I have the money."

John Sawhill New Energy Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to name John C. Sawhill as the next federal energy chief to succeed William E. Simon, sources say. Sawhill, 37, who has been deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office since it was formed last December, will take over after Simon is named secretary of the Treasury, probably later this week.

Simon, however, is expected to still keep his hand in energy policy, with Sawhill running day-to-day operations.

Sawhill's selection is somewhat of a surprise, especially because he contradicted Nixon on the extent of the energy crisis after the President held a news conference earlier this year.

But sources said Sawhill's strong support on Capitol Hill and the need to maintain continuity in the energy job outweighed opposition in the White House to the deputy administrator.

Nevertheless, there was intense White House debate over whether Sawhill should get the job, in view of his outspoken nature.

Although Simon will be maintaining a strong interest in energy policy at the Treasury, he will not be named an assistant to the President, as was his predecessor, George P. Shultz.

Sawhill, a native of Baltimore, came to the energy post from the Office of Management and Budget, where he had been in charge of energy programs since April 1973.

His background includes jobs as a business executive with the Commercial Credit Co. and McKinsey & Co.

A graduate of Princeton University with a doctorate in economics from New York University, Sawhill for three years in the early 1960s served as assistant dean and professor at NYU's graduate school of business administration.

Crash Injuries Fatal

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A hospital spokesman said Kenneth Webb, 22, of Warren, died Monday of injuries he received Saturday when the car he was driving crashed into a utility pole.

Taft Bares Finances

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, Monday made public his income tax returns for the past three years, announcing he and his wife paid $84,212.68 in 1973 taxes on $113,175 adjusted gross income.

Taft listed his adjusted gross income in 1972 as $392,753 and in 1971 as $145,537.

He submitted the information to the Ohio Ethics Commission and Ohio secretary of state.

Taft said in a statement: "I have requested filing of this report since it seems to me to be proper to make it available to the public."

He said he earned $42,500 as a Congressman, and received $8,325 in honoraria, $32,709 in dividends and $25,559 in 1973. He said he deducted $37,645 from his gross income for charities and other reasons.

Taft estimated if he had filed a separate return from his wife, his 1973 income tax would have been $38,168.

Research in the United States indicates that if seat belts were used in every car in the nation, 5,000 lives would be saved every year and severity of injuries reduced by 60 per cent.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and proposing to enact section 20a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to equalize the compensation of public officers and members of the General Assembly.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and a proposal to enact section 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

Section 20. The General Assembly, in cases not provided for in this constitution, shall fix by law the term of office and the compensation of all public officers; but no change therein shall affect the compensation of any officer during his existing term, unless the office be abolished; provided, however, that if an officer elected to the same office from the same district on taking office receives a greater compensation, such rate of compensation shall thereupon be payable to each of the other officers holding the same office in that district.

An officer who is appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall not be entitled to receive more compensation than any elected officer holding the same office in the same district is receiving at the time such appointed officer takes office.

Section 31. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive a fixed compensation, to be prescribed by law, and no other allowance or perquisites, either in the payment of postage or otherwise; and no change in their compensation shall take effect during the legislative biennium within which it was made.

Section 20a. Notwithstanding Section 20 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio, any increase in compensation fixed by the General Assembly for any public officer, which, because of its being made during his term of office, does not become payable to such officer until after two years from the date of its enactment, shall nevertheless become effective and payable on and after the effective date of the enactment of such increase in compensation.

SCHEDULE

The secretary of state shall place upon the ballot as separate issues the proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and the proposal to enact sections 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of Ohio, so as to permit the electorate to vote separately on each such proposal.

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing amendments, at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, adopt the same, they shall become part of the Constitution of the State of Ohio and existing sections 20 and 31 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio shall be repealed.

(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 61)

JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for preparation of the language which appears on the ballot when the General Assembly proposes a constitutional amendment so that it will properly identify the substance of the proposal, to provide procedures for timely challenges to the adoption and submission of such amendments, and to assure information to the voters about such amendments.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at a special election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. Either branch of the general assembly may propose amendments to this constitution; and, if the same shall be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays, and shall be filed with the secretary of state at least ninety days before the date of the election at which they are to be submitted to the electors, for their approval or rejection. They shall be submitted on a separate ballot without party designation of any kind, at either a special or a general election as the general assembly may prescribe.

The ballot language for such proposed amendments shall be prescribed by a majority of the Ohio ballot board consisting of the secretary of state and four other members, who shall be designated in a manner prescribed by law and not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. The ballot language shall properly identify the substance of the proposal to be voted upon. The ballot need not contain the full text nor a condensed text of the proposal. The board shall also prepare an explanation of the proposal, which may include its purpose and effects, and shall certify the ballot language and the explanation to the secretary of state not later than seventy-five days before the election. The ballot language and the explanation shall be available for public inspection in the office of the secretary of state.

The supreme court shall have exclusive, original jurisdiction in all cases challenging the adoption or submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to the electors. No such case challenging the ballot language, the explanation, or the actions or procedures of the general assembly in adopting and submitting a constitutional amendment shall be filed later than sixty-four days before the election. The ballot language shall not be held invalid unless it is such as to mislead, deceive, or defraud the voters.

Unless the general assembly otherwise provides by law for the preparation of arguments for and, if any, against a proposed amendment, the board may prepare such arguments.

Such proposed amendments, the ballot language, the explanations, and the arguments, if any, shall be published once a week for three consecutive weeks preceding such election, in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county of the state, where a newspaper is published. The general assembly shall provide by law for other dissemination of information in order to inform the electors concerning proposed amendments. An election on a proposed constitutional amendment submitted by the general assembly shall not be enjoined nor invalidated because the explanation, arguments, or other information is faulty in any way. If the majority of the electors voting on the same shall adopt such amendments the same shall become a part of the constitution. When more than one amendment shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment, separately.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect and existing Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

A Childless Marriage

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for six years, and I definitely have made my mind up that I do not want any children. My husband says if that's the way I feel about it it's alright with him.

The problem is that I want him to have a vasectomy—an operation to make him sterile. (My brother-in-law had one and he says it was a breeze.) My husband says he doesn't want that kind of operation, and he thinks it's up to me to either take the necessary precautions or have an operation to make me sterile.

I would like your opinion.

NO CHILDREN THANKS

DEAR NO: Since it was your decision to have no children, I think it's up to you to take the precautions instead of insisting that your husband subject himself to a vasectomy. Be realistic. If you were to divorce your husband (or die) and he were to marry again, he and his next mate might want children. As for a vasectomy being a "breeze," one man's breeze is another man's gale.

DEAR ABBY: I am so heartsick this morning after getting very little sleep last night.

My sister-in-law informed me yesterday that my husband (her brother) plays golf just to get away from me!

I was so crushed I couldn't find the words to answer her. I've been married for 35 years and always thought I had a good marriage and now this. Please tell me how to handle it.

MRS. M.

DEAR MRS. M.: Is there a possibility that she was joking? If not, she clearly meant to hurt you, and the only way to deal with someone who intentionally hurts you is from a distance, and as infrequently as possible.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this nice young man exclusively for seven months. He didn't ask me to go steady. I just don't care to go out with anyone else. He doesn't go with anyone else either, so I guess you'd say we're going steady.

My problem is my mother. She has told me that she doesn't want me to date him anymore. Just like that! The reason: He's too short! (He's exactly

Animal Output Down, Prices Up

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Total liveweight of meat animals produced on the nation's farms and ranches was down last year but the higher prices pushed the value of production to a record $26.3 billion, up from $19.7 billion in 1972, says the Agriculture Department.

As used by USDA, livestock "production" means the gains in liveweight of animals during a particular year. It includes new births and the weight gains of older animals.

Thus, according to the department's Crop Reporting Board, total 1973 output of cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs was 62.5 billion pounds, compared with 63.3 billion in 1972.

The figures represent last year's weight gains of stock kept on farms, feedlots and ranches plus the 1973 added weights of animals marketed. For example, if a 600-pound steer on Jan. 1, 1973 was sold later in the year at 1,000 pounds, it added 400 pounds to the 1973 "production" total.

The analysis also showed that cash receipts from livestock sales in 1973 totaled a record $30.7 billion, up from $23.9 billion in 1972. That includes the "production" or weights of animals from 1972 and earlier years.

In other words, using the same example, when a 1,000-pound steer was sold in 1973 its entire market value was included although 600 pounds of its weight was produced before Jan. 1, 1973.

That is why the gross cash receipts of $30.7 billion in 1973 were shown to be sharply higher than last year's $26.3 billion "value of production" during the same time span.

The report also illustrated what happened in the cattle business last year. Production of cattle and calves in 1973 actually was a record high of 41.5 billion pounds, up about one per cent from 1972. But USDA said in earlier reports that beef output by slaughter plants dropped 6 per cent in 1973.

Thus, statistically, the report indicated what USDA experts have been saying all along: There is a buildup in cattle-herd numbers despite last year's decline in beef output for supermarket counters.

The report said cash receipts from cattle marketings soared 25 per cent in 1973 to a record $22.7 billion. Hog sales were put at $7.5 billion, despite a 5 per cent dip in 1973 production to 20.1

billion pounds.

The average price for cattle last year was $42.80 per 100 pounds liveweight, compared with $33.50 in 1972. Hogs were $38.40 per 100 pounds last year, up from $25.10 in 1972, the report said.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
88th House District

The General Assembly has adjourned for an Easter and primary election break. All 99 House seats and 17 seats in the Senate are up for election. The legislature will convene again on May 14th to wrap up the remaining work of the 110th General Assembly.

Legislation on no-fault insurance, regulation of abortion, and landlord and tenants rights will probably be considered at that time.

The State Controlling Board, primarily composed of state representatives and senators, will consider an emergency request for $1 million to begin cleanup and repair work at Central State University.

A majority of the controlling board members have expressed their support for the release of funds.

The situation requires us to act now before further damage occurs. Many of the Central State buildings are without roofs; walls are collapsed, windows are broken, and utilities are inoperable. The State Architect's office is working on an engineering report that will give us a more complete picture of the total damage on a building-by-building basis, but for the present, we must get underway with emergency repairs.

The funds are to be used to clean up the buildings and grounds to protect the safety of people; to restore the utilities as necessary and to take whatever action is required to protect the contents of the buildings' furnishings, equipment and supplies.

The $1 million is to be made available from appropriations made to Central State University in the 1974-75 biennial capital improvements act.

I have mentioned in earlier weeks how Ohioans stricken by the tornadoes or strong winds could apply for emergency financial help from the state. Since this is such an important item, I would like to detail these procedures again.

The Ohio Department of Public Welfare, through county welfare departments, offers Immediate Need Assistance to families and individuals who need help in repairing or replacing homes, furniture, and other belongings as a result of disaster. The assistance is available to all Ohioans, regardless of eligibility for other welfare programs, who can show need created through no fault of their own. Applications for Immediate Need Assistance are taken at all county welfare department offices in Ohio.

The program covers three main categories of applicants:

1. Family Emergency — Provides financial and medical assistance to families with children under age 21 regardless of whether the family meets requirements for continuing help through the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) program.

2. Pending Adult — Provides financial and medical aid to physically handicapped and other persons whose needs are not being met by other government agencies such as Veterans Administration or Social Security.

3. Supplemental Emergency — Helps individuals and families already receiving public assistance who meet with an unexpected emergency for which immediate aid is needed.

There are essentially three eligibility requirements an applicant must show:

- 1. A need immediate enough that help cannot be delayed without risking severe consequences.
- 2. Applicant lacks sufficient funds to meet immediate needs.
- 3. Need did not arise because applicant turned down legitimate opportunity for employment.

Columbus Man Held In Robbery, Assault

SELIGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — A Columbus, Ohio man was arrested near Flagstaff Monday and charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to commit murder.

The Yavapai County attorney's office said Lloyd Vincent Murphy, 23, and a Las Vegas, Nevada man were both charged in connection with the apparent robbery and shooting of Thomas Richard Manning, 23, of Flagstaff at a rest area near here.

Cincy Zoo State Record For Gorillas

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Cincinnati Zoo now holds the world record for lowland gorilla births— thanks to two gorilla couples "who are deeply in love."

The seventh birth was recorded Monday when Penelope and King Tut became the parents of a three-pound, 11-ounce female.

An eighth arrival is expected within the month from mother-to-be Mahari and her beau Hatari.

The newborn gorilla was immediately abandoned by her mother, and zoo director Ed Maruska credited two on-duty college students with saving the young animal's life.

The unnamed gorilla's chances of survival are good, Maruska said.

The birth gave Cincinnati undisputed claim for the most lowland gorilla births. Basel, Switzerland, had shared the record with six.

"We're running out of room," said Maruska. "We've filled the gorilla house and now we're working on the lion house," he laughed.

An open-roofed rain forest building is planned for the fastgrowing family.

Maruska said he has received requests from "all over the country" from other zoos interested in purchasing a pair of young breeding gorillas.

The value of the animals has risen sharply since the United States placed a moratorium on importing gorillas.

He estimated the value of the new arrival at $10,000.

John Dean Credibility Rating Rises

NEW YORK (AP) — John W. Dean III has more credibility in regard to the Watergate cover-up than President Nixon, according to a Harris poll taken last month.

Forty-six per cent of those surveyed said they believed Dean more than Nixon, contrasting sharply with 38 per cent who attributed more credibility to Nixon in a poll last July.

In last month's poll, 29 per cent said they believed Nixon more than Dean, the ousted White House counsel, and 25 per cent said they were not sure.

Last July, 37 per cent believed Dean's testimony and 25 per cent were not sure whom they believed.

The latest poll was conducted March 24 to 29 among a cross-section of 1,495 adults.

In answer to a question whether they believed Dean's charge that Nixon knew about the Watergate cover-up, 52 per cent said last month they believed Dean. Last July, 50 per cent said they believed Dean's charge was true.

Republican and Southerners think Nixon is more truthful than Dean, Harris said. Among white Protestants over 50 years old, Dean and Nixon believers were evenly divided.

Battelle To Test Anticancer Drugs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Potential anticancer drugs that already have passed the safety and side-effects screening and are in use to combat tumors in mice will be evaluated in the next two years by Battelle Memorial Institute.

The National Cancer Institute awarded a $3.8 million testing contract Monday to Battelle, and Dr. William Clarke, technical manager in the program, says anywhere from 10 to 20 drugs a year could be tested.

"They originate all across this country and throughout the world, so it just depends on how many get through the first screening system," Clarke said.

Scientists at Battelle will be working to identify the amount of each compound necessary to stop a tumor from spreading without harming the individual, Clarke explained.

"With any anticancer drug, you're

Clear Skies Prevalent In Mid-U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers sprinkled the Mississippi Valley today while clouds darkened the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

But clear skies, with crisp temperatures, prevailed in most of the nation's midsection from the Plains to the upper Great Lakes.

Showers and scattered thundershowers continued to drench the Gulf Coast states from Texas to Florida, and rain splashed into portions of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Clouds along the Eastern Seaboard extended inland as far as Ohio, and a few areas of light rain also dampened the East Coast.

Cool air swept by northerly winds into much of the eastern half of the nation. Frost and freeze warnings were issued for northern Indiana, West Virginia and the mountains of Virginia and Maryland.

At the other end of the country, clear skies and warm temperatures were common in the Southwest. But while readings were mild farther north along the Pacific Coast, skies were mostly cloudy.

Negotiations Slated In Columbus Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Negotiations will resume later this week between Local 487 of the Textile Workers of America, and Columbus Coated Fabrics plant, a union spokesman said Monday.

Corwin Smith, president of the local, said the decision was made following a meeting between both sides with federal mediators in Washington last week.

Phase 2 of the plant's plan to remove equipment and materials out of a company warehouse in Worthington has also been suspended until Thursday.

Approve Mobile Home Housing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati City Council Monday passed an emergency measure authorizing use of mobile homes as temporary housing in tornado-ravaged Saylor Park.

The action was taken after Martin Walsh Jr., director of the city's Buildings and Inspections Department, told council 30 to 80 mobile homes would eventually be needed.

Council also authorized City Manager E. Robert Turner to allow mobile homes in other areas of the city where residents might be homeless.

The emergency ordinance is effective for one year, but it provides for six-month extensions.

are you Wasting your fuel?

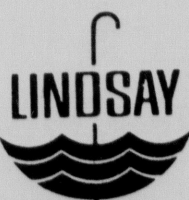

If you have hard water, you probably are wasting fuel for water heaters and radiator type heating systems. Here's why: minerals in hard water build up a crusty scale in boilers, plumbing, heaters and appliances. This scale can be so thick that it can stop the flow of water in pipes and completely clog washers and heaters. But even a little scale can rob you of fuel, because the cost of fuel for a water heater or hot water heating system increases in direct proportion to the thickness of the scale in the tank. With just 1/8" of scale, 33 1/3% more fuel is needed.

soft water removes hardness scale

Thickness of Scale	% Increase in Fuel Required
1/32 in.	25%
1/16 in.	29%
1/8 in.	33 1/3%

The flow of soft water through your plumbing and heating system removes hardness scale, cuts out this fuel loss. So, save energy with soft water!

You're way ahead with Lindsay Soft Water. Save on fuel (the amount of electricity required for a softener is about as much as used by an electric clock) and save on cleaning aids and detergents, too!

Commissioners Announce Plans To Purchase Home

Pickaway County Commissioners announced Monday that part of the funds from the sale of the Bowsher Estate farm in Saltcreek Twp. will be used to purchase Hedges Home for Boys located on South Court Street.

The farm was willed to the county and money from its sale was to be used for the children's home and for care for the elderly. Another farm in the estate located in Pickaway Twp. was willed to Berger Hospital. Both were sold at public auction Saturday.

The children's home east of town on Route 22 is no longer used by the county. It was condemned several years ago by state authorities.

However, the county does operate a home for girls on East Main Street which it owns and Hedges Home on South Court for boys which it leases from the Berger Hospital board of governors.

The farm in Saltcreek Twp. was purchased at public auction by George Seimer at $550 per acre. It contains 157 acres. Commissioners said they have not determined how they will allocate the part of the purchase price which is to be used for care for the elderly.

The Pickaway Twp. farm was sold to Charles Kreisel at $930 an acre.

Funds from the sale of this 155 acre farm will be used for the proposed addition to the hospital.

In other business Monday afternoon, commissioners discussed a proposed multi-county solid waste disposal plan with Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian.

Blaney said plans for this new concept in solid waste disposal have been tentatively approved by both FHA and EPA.

"Everybody wants to see this project get off the ground so it may be used as a pilot project for other solid waste disposal systems," Blaney told the commissioners.

Counties that have been interested in this plan include Pickaway, Fayette, Ross, Pike and Scioto. Blaney said it is so designed that it can be initiated as soon as any one of the interested counties is ready. He noted that at the present Pickaway and Fayette seem the most interested.

He asked commissioners to set a date to meet with the engineer so the plan can be fully explained. Commissioners suggested a joint meeting with Fayette County commissioners might be a good idea at this stage of the plan and told him they would set a date after talking with them.

Blaney noted the landfill operation on the Bill Barthelmas Farm in Wayne Twp. does have a limited capacity. He also suggested a representative of the city of Circleville should be invited to the meeting.

Present at Monday's meeting were commissioner Dick T. Tootle, Wayne Hines and L. Robert Liston.

Nader Attacks Oil Companies

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has accused the major oil companies of irresponsibility and collusion in fostering what he termed a phony energy crisis, by reducing the supply of fuel and raising the price of oil and gasoline.

He called for a national energy policy to protect the consumer rather than to benefit the oil companies.

Speaking at the University of Kentucky Monday night, he charged that President Nixon was not interested in pursuing a policy of consumer protection—and said the only evidence of any attempt to solve the energy shortage was raising the price of fuel in order to reduce the demand.

Central State Starts Rebuilding Campus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Despite an estimated $30 million in tornado damages, Central State University hopes to be totally functioning next September.

The damage estimate, which had ranged as high as $70 million, was placed on the facility Monday by James A. Norton, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

Norton appeared before the State Controlling Board to gain release of $1 million in emergency repair funds. The release was granted quickly.

Norton said the school would not be back to normal when it reopens "but hopefully (it will be) very serviceable to the students."

He estimated that $20 million will be reimbursed by federal disaster funds. He said another $10 million would come from already approved capital expenditures for the school.

Forty-four buildings were damaged by the tornado, which first struck nearby Xenia. Norton said 16 of the structures would be razed, while 28 could be restored.

Henry Whitcomb, fiscal officer for the Board of Regents, said he would probably be coming before the controlling board for an additional $2 or $2.5 million advance. "The federal government has been pouring help in there," he said. He estimated it would cost "two to three times as much" to construct buildings today that could withstand tornado damages, which the older campus structures did.

The board also released $512,836 to pay the Ohio National Guard for personnel costs on tornado duty April 3-10. The guard plans to remain on duty until Friday.

A spokesman for the Ohio adjutant general's office said there would be no federal reimbursement, except to rebuild two armories in the area "practically destroyed" by the tornado.

Goodrich Sets Outlays

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—B.F. Goodrich plans to spend $150 million this year and the same amount next year on capital expansion projects, the firm said Monday in announcing first-quarter earnings.

A spokesman said Goodrich domestic sales outpaced general U.S. manufacturing for the first time in recent history.

Net income for the first three months totaled $14.98 million or $1.01 per share on sales of $442.72 million, compared with the equivalent 1973 period's earnings of $13.38 million or 89 cents per share on sales of $390.41 million.

The comparison of sales with general U.S. production covered the period from the fourth quarter of 1970 to the last quarter last year, the spokesman said. He said Goodrich domestic sales increased 49 per cent, compared with the 24 per cent growth in U.S. manufacturing output.

He added that manufacturing growth usually outdistanced the firm's sales advance but that company sales usually plunged more rapidly when the economy headed downward over-all.

Tiger Baseball Club Loses At Greenfield

Circleville was defeated by Greenfield McClain 6-4 Monday in a South Central Ohio League baseball game played on the McClain field.

It was the second loss in as many starts in the league for the Tigers. Overall they have a record of two wins and three losses.

In Monday's tilt, Greenfield's Willett limited the Tigers to three hits, a homerun by Randy Thomas, and singles by Pat McNaughton and Biff Bumgarner.

He fanned seven and walked seven in his seven innings on the mound.

Randy Thomas started for Circleville. He walked five, fanned four,

Bill Bergey Slates Jump From Bengals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Bruising veteran defender Bill Bergey could be a lame-duck linebacker for the Cincinnati Bengals the next two seasons if he carries out his plans to jump to the new World Football League.

The 29-year-old New York native said Monday he'll join Norfolk's WFL franchise in 1976.

Bergey said Bengals Coach Paul Brown told him: "Life is too short not to grab an opportunity."

But a later official announcement by the National Football League club indicated the Bengals were angry at the prospects of Bergey spending two more years with Cincinnati while under contract with another team.

Bergey vowed "I'll play as hard as ever."

Cincinnati's No. 2 draft choice in 1969, Bergey was named American Football League "rookie of the year." The Arkansas State graduate played on two Central Division title teams.

Homers Lead Braves Over Aces, 5-1

Logan Elm defeated Amanda-Clearcreek 5-1 Monday on the Aces diamond in Mid State League play.

The Braves scored four runs in the first on a homerun by Scott Pontius, and a homerun by Steve Rawlins with Jeff Reichelderfer and Mark Justus on base.

Hits for Logan Elm were a single by Greg Justus, a homerun by Scott Pontius, a single by Reichelderfer, the homerun and single by Rawlins, a single by Derek Morris, a bunt single by Tim Justus.

Amanda-Clearcreek's run came in the fourth inning when Doug Starnier singled, and Mark Marshall walked. Starnier crossed the plate on an error committed by the Braves going for a double play.

The winning pitcher was Tim Justus, a freshman. He went all the way, fanning 14, walking six and hitting two batters. He was touched for three hits. The losing pitcher was Rod Martin. He fanned three, walked five and gave up seven hits.

Hits by the Aces were all singles by Jim Destadio, Russ Martin and Doug Starnier.

Logan Elm is now 2-1 in the Mid State and 4-2 overall. A game with Washington C. H. originally scheduled today has been canceled and instead the Braves will be playing at Millersport in a makeup game in Mid State League.

Neil Cusack Winner Of Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — There's an old Irish saying in wishing friends good luck: "May the wind be always at your back." Young Neil Cusack must have had it in the back of his mind in winning the 78th Boston A.A. Marathon.

Cusack, a 22-year-old East Tennessee State College student from Limerick, Ireland, realized he had victory in hand Monday after conquering "Heartbreak Hill," about five miles from the finish line in the 26-mile, 385-yard run from Hopkinton to Boston.

and gave up three hits. He was relieved by Brent Mancini who walked two, didn't have any strikeouts and was touched for three hits.

Circleville scored single runs in the top of the second, third, fourth and sixth innings. Greenfield scored one run in the bottom of the third inning, one in the bottom of the fourth, two in the fifth and two in the sixth.

The Tigers had six errors in the game while Greenfield played without an error.

The Tigers are scheduled to play a league game at Unioto Wednesday, will host Miami Trace Thursday and Washington C. H. Friday.

was named the club's Most Valuable Player by fans in 1970.

He would become the second Bengal to move to the WFL if he signs.

"I have not signed anything," Bergey insisted. He said he would be flying to Norfolk this week to discuss the offer.

Norfolk, formerly the Washington Ambassadors, announced it would officially sign two NFL "superstars" Wednesday. The team moved to Norfolk when a lease could not be arranged for use of Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

"There is nothing we could do," said the Bengal release. "He was already committed before he talked to us. It is a definite blow to the Bengals players and their hopes for a championship season."

Brown said Bergey's loss will be "a big disappointment to me. All I can say is that our statement explains where I stand."

Bergey's brother Bruce recently signed with Portland's WFL club.

Bergey said Brown was not "bitter or sour about it. He was very pleasant to talk to, and when we finished we shook hands."

"He said he would have told his own son the same thing."

EARLY CATCH—This 38-inch 20-pound muskellunge (muskie) was landed 6 a.m. Saturday after a 45 minute struggle by Tom Sutherin of 185 Nicholas Drive. On Friday he bought a new fishing rod and outfitted it with 12-pound test line and a yellow shyster and the results are shown above. Virgil Detty and his son Brian gave moral support to Sutherin as they had neither dip net nor grapple.

Lamonica May Join New League

ANAMHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A report that Oakland Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonica had agreed to terms with the Southern California Sun was denied Monday night by an official of the World Football League team.

The San Francisco Chronicle said it had learned that Lamonica would announce signing a million dollar, multi-year contract in news conference Tuesday.

Sun General Manager Curly Morrison said Monday night, however, that Lamonica had not signed with the team although negotiations with the Raider quarterback were continuing and agreement could be near.

"I'll say this, we're fairly close but we still have some negotiating to do," Morrison said.

Lamonica, 33, would be the second quarterback to leave the Raiders for the WFL. Ken Stabler signed a million dollar contract with the Birmingham Americans starting in 1976 after completion of two years remaining on his Raider contract.

Lamonica would be free to join the Sun for the 1975 season after playing out his option in the coming season."

Lamonica played with the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League before coming to Oakland in 1967.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unruliness. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can thus be prevented. Shun extremes.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Teamwork will be important now, so make it a point to associate and work with those whose interests and aims are similar to your own.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury influences stimulate your ingenuity, adaptability and capacity for extra work and production on short notice. All will be rewarded.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Day calls for the utmost discretion. Be sure you do not offend friends or co-workers by thoughtless words. Work out disagreements, if any, with logic — and graciousness.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Make your schedule a flexible one. There are possibilities of changes and variations in certain situations — all promising to be beneficial.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Business and financial matters slated for immediate advancement; also for future gains. But take no risks; conservative management stressed.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Not much planetary help here. How the day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your wits to project the effective and eliminate the mediocre.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A tabulation of "musts" may uncover a weak program — one that should be pepped up to show your abilities to better advantage. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): If someone deserves your time and talents, give where it will help, but refrain where too much is expected. And don't promise more than you can deliver.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Care needed in both budgetary and domestic matters. Also, avoid restlessness and changeability — both tendencies now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Go after the big gains but do not expect to have things your way all along the line. Be prepared for some opposition and you can meet it more easily.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Introduce a new note — perhaps a new approach — to give more spark to day's doings. Output will substantially improve.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a high order of intelligence, a lively imagination and a delightful personality. You are more conservative than many other Arians and may devote a great deal of time to "causes" — either civic or humanitarian. Your talents are considerable and, with determination, you could achieve almost any goal you desire. But, unlike many others of your Sign, you do not seem to possess that inner drive which sends them ahead in leaps and bounds.

You are more inclined to be sporadic in your efforts — a "whiz" one day, listless the next. Try to maintain an even pace and you'll get ahead more quickly — and easily. Fields in which you could reap your greatest successes: finance, teaching, writing, the law. Birthdate of: J. P. Morgan, Amer. financier; William Holden, film star.

Herbert Philbrick Leads Quiet Life

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Herbert A. Philbrick, the counterspy famous for leading "Three Lives," is spending his fourth life in this quiet Washington suburb.

"Who am I today?" asks the 59-year-old Philbrick, then answers, "Just an ordinary citizen."

It is just 25 years since Philbrick made a surprise court appearance in Boston and testified against 11 alleged Communists conspirators. All were convicted and spent five years in jail, although the high court later threw out the Smith Act, under which they were convicted. The court ruled that an overt act of conspiracy was needed, not just talk.

And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist, and FBI counterspy.

"It was like a thunderbolt in the courtroom when I walked in, since four of the 11 knew me personally," Philbrick recalled in an interview. And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist and FBI counterspy.

But the furor seems far removed from the brick colonial house where Philbrick now lives with his 31-year-old second wife, Shirley.

Niger Army Chief Claims Famine Brought Takeover

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The army chief of staff in drought-ravaged Niger says he deposed President Hamani Diori to relieve "the catastrophic situation" in the poor, black African country, Radio Niamey reported.

"The army had to take its responsibilities," Lt. Col. Seyni Kountie said in a broadcast Monday from Niamey, Niger's capital. "We could not remain with our arms folded" when the people were no longer assured a meal a day.

He said Diori's administration, in office ever since the country achieved independence from France in 1960, was guilty of "injustice, corruption, selfishness and indifference."

There were no reports of violence during the takeover. Radio Niamey said calm prevailed and the 2,500-man army was in "full control."

The Niger radio did not say what had happened to Diori. But the French state television network in Paris said Kountie told it in a telephone interview that the president and his family were under house arrest and were "being well treated."

Niger, a landlocked country of 4.2 million nomads and small farmers, is the 15th black African country south of the Sahara to come under military rule. It is one of Africa's poorest countries and has been one of those hit hardest by the murderous, six-year drought in West Africa below the Sahara. Thousands have died, and millions of head of livestock have been destroyed.

Little is known of Kountie, a 43-year-old French-trained soldier who became chief of staff in 1973.

The chief of staff announced that the constitution was suspended, the National Assembly dissolved and all political organizations suppressed. He said a supreme council of officers would be created soon to run the government and he imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Diori, a 57-year-old former schoolteacher, was a soft-spoken moderate who often acted as mediator in inter-African disputes, including the Nigerian civil war. Foreign diplomats praised his even-handed leadership, and some commented that if there was corruption in his government it was probably less than in many other countries.

In recent years Diori had tried to reduce Niger's heavy economic dependence on France, and to gain international financial support for a plan to help the sub-Saharan recover from the drought. But his vision of some $3 billion in foreign aid for the area was largely ignored.

Nixon Sets Trip Back

KEY BISCAINE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is expected to return to Washington from an Easter holiday tonight for appearances this week before hemisphere diplomats and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A spokesman said Nixon would be host at a black-tie, White House dinner Wednesday night for ministers of the Organization of American States. The OAS will open a ministerial meeting Thursday in Atlanta.

On Thursday morning, Nixon will address the annual constitutional convention of the DAR at its Washington headquarters, his second such appearance as President.

The President and Mrs. Nixon flew to their Florida home Friday afternoon. Reportedly he has spent much of the time here relaxing with his family and with neighbor C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The Florida White House said Monday that, as of last Saturday, Nixon had received gifts of $43,657 from more than 5,000 persons who asked that he use the money to help pay some $467,000 in back federal income taxes and interest.

While Nixon was described as "heartened and moved" by the donations, the announcement said he ordered that all contributions be returned with thanks and that $2,581 in anonymous gifts be forwarded to the American Red Cross for relief work associated with last week's tornadoes in the Midwest and South.

The White House said the mail and telegram response to the President's tax difficulties has run 50 to 1 in his favor.

Egypt Threatens To Use Missiles Against Israel

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Egyptian press warned today that Egypt would use longrange missiles against Israel if the Jewish state escalated military operations against Syria and Lebanon.

The editor of the semi-official newspaper Al Ahras, Aly Amin, said ground-to-ground missiles "were among several other modern weapons we did not use during the October war."

Egypt, Amin noted, did not discharge a single soldier of its army following the October war.

"Egypt would not hesitate to resume fighting once again if Israel committed aggression against any Arab country," Amin warned.

Ohio Arts Council Gets New Director

The council announced Monday the appointment of Edgy to succeed Donald R. Streibig, who resigned.

Westfall Board To Level Williamsport Building

At a meeting of the Westfall Board of Education on April 8, the low bid was accepted for removing the Williamsport School Building. The low bid for $9,877 was submitted by John N. Bowers, Circleville. Eleven different firms had submitted bids for the work and ranged from Bowers' low bid to a high bid of $64,800.

The agreement calls for the removal of the building and all materials, leveling the site and filling the site to within 12 inches of the surface with brick mortar or plaster. The remaining 12 inches is to be filled with soil suitable for the seeding of grass. Several items such as desks, tables, student desks and class pictures have been moved from the building to the gymnasium which will not be razed.

Much of the time at the regular meeting of the board on Monday night was devoted to the employment of certified personnel for the 1974-75 school year.

Supplemental contracts were awarded to Miss Ann Posey for junior high girls' track and Richard Everman for junior high boys' track for the current season.

The board approved use of district buildings as follows: Jackson School, for 4-H leaders and advisers meeting on April 17; Monroe School, for 4-H meetings on Wednesdays from April until August and for the Monroe Alumni Banquet on June 1; Westfall High School baseball diamond for the Williamsport pony league May 1 through August 15; Westfall football field and auditorium for the Monroe Men's Club Summer Gospel Sing on August 15.

Candidates for graduation as submitted by high school principal Robert Debo were accepted by the board. The board also approved the employment of Mrs. Nancy Snyder as a substitute secretary for the district and approved substitute teacher lists 14 and 15 as submitted by the County superintendent.

The regular meeting was adjourned with the resolution to reconvene for disposition of final business on April 29 at 8 p.m.

After founding his own polling company in 1960, Quayle surveyed voter sentiment for Johnson, former Sen Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, also of Minnesota.

City Police Investigate Petit Thefts

City Police are investigating two reports of petit theft occurring Monday.

Rod Weaver, 409 Lancaster Pike, told Dispatcher Bill Stevenson, someone took his bicycle early Monday.

The bicycle, estimated to be worth $25, was taken from the yard.

Tom J. Hartsaugh, 356 E. Main St., reported to Police officials thieves siphoned gasoline from his car.

According to the report taken by Patrolman Joe Stevenson, Hartsaugh parked his car 7 p.m. Sunday, which at that time had almost a full tank of gasoline.

Putting his license tags on the car, Monday, Hartsaugh noticed a hose and gas cap laying on the ground beside the vehicle.

Hartsaugh estimated one-fourth a tank of gasoline was taken.

Lebanon Asks Action Against Israeli Attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lebanon has asked the United Nations Security Council to take "appropriate and efficient means" to stop Israeli raids across the border, arguing that condemnation would not be enough.

The council debated Monday for 2½ hours on Lebanon's complaint about an Israeli raid Friday night on six Lebanese villages.

Israel was retaliating for the attack by three Arab guerrillas the day before on the town of Qiryat Shmonah in which 18 Israelis and the three Arabs were killed.

Foreign Minister Fouad Naffa of Lebanon told the 15-member council Israel would react with "indifference and contempt" to a condemnation.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy accused Israel of endangering the fragile Middle East truce by its actions in Lebanon and on the Syrian front.

"Israel must choose between war and peace," he said.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Teloah replied that Lebanon must "prevent the use of its territory for attacks against Israel."

"If the Lebanese government permits Lebanon to become a lawless gangland, it is obvious that its neighbors will treat it as a gangland," he declared.

A spokesman for the United States, Israel's traditional ally, told newsmen that any condemnation of Israel must be balanced by a condemnation of Palestinian terrorism.

Meanwhile, Israeli and Syrian forces on the Golan Heights, after close combat and Israeli air attacks Sunday, returned to the artillery exchanges that have characterized most of the fighting there in the past month.

Both the Israeli and Syrian defense ministers visited their troops at the front Monday. While the Israeli minister, Moshe Dayan, was on Mt. Hermon, Syrian shells hit the area, but Dayan was unhurt, the Israeli command said. Two Israeli soldiers were wounded.

Radio Damascus said Syria's defense minister, Mustafa Tlas, also made a quick trip to Mt. Hermon and inspected the forward command headquarters of Syrian forces there.

In Jerusalem, Israeli President Ephraim Katzir's office said he has granted the Labor party more time to name a new premier to replace Golda Meir, who resigned last week and is now heading a caretaker government.

The statement said Katzir asked the country's biggest party to name its candidate "as soon as possible." Some sources said the president had given the Laborites until April 24, while other reports said his deadline was April 28.

Labor's leading contenders for the premiership are Minister of Labor Yitzhak Rabin; Yosef Almogi, the mayor of Haifa, and Justice Minister Haim Zadok.

AUCTION ARTICLES—Mrs. Henry Swope, acquisitions chairman for the Scioto Society gourmet dinner and auction, is pictured with several of the valuable donations which have been made for the sale—an antique yarn winder from Harriet Morris, a Hamadan oriental rug given by K. A. Menendian of Columbus and a set of Bavarian china from Mr. and Mrs. David Yates.

Auction Planned By Scioto Society

Scioto Society trustees and committee members from Pickaway County are busy with plans for the first annual Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast and auction to be held on the evening of May 17 at the Elks Hall in Chillicothe to raise money for the 1974 production season of "Tecumseh."

Mrs. Roger May and Nelson Embry are in charge of the banquet arrangements and they have engaged Executive Caterers from Columbus to handle the event. The menu has been finalized.

Hors d'oeuvres: stuffed mushroom caps, water chestnuts wrapped in bacon and swedish meat balls. Buffet: broiled beef tenderloin, tiny stuffed chicken breasts with bing cherry sauce, tiny barbecued spareribs, seafood newburg, rice almondine, tossed salad, glazed Belgian carrots, fresh fruit platter, deluxe relish tray, rolls and butter, assorted pastries, coffee, tea and wine. Cocktails will be served preceding the dinner.

Chairman of acquisitions, Mrs. Henry Swope, has been working closely with her committee, Mrs. Don Miller Sr. and Mrs. H. N. Stevenson to obtain valuable and interesting articles for the auction, which will highlight the evening. Several area celebrities have been contacted by mail to donate an item to be sold and many interested friends of the Society have already made donations. In addition to the pictured contributions are a new 4'8" by 6'3", bright red carpet given by Dorothy Jonnes; 20 bags of Triple 15 fertilizer from Florizer Inc.; a 83" by 86" rose and blue antique handwoven coverlet with four inch fringe, which is signed "wove by F. A. Hesse, Somerset" donated by Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller Sr.; a wagon wheel from Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stevenson; a delight for Erickson glass collectors from Mrs. Clark Will; a piece of antique opalescent hobnail glass from Mrs. Tom Renick and a water color by Betty Griffith, which will be eagerly sought by collectors of her work and also by local history buffs, who will want to own a rare painting of the octagonal court house in Circleville as it appeared in 1836.

The committee is very excited about the quality of the merchandise it is receiving. More contributions are coming in every day and Mrs. Swope will gladly arrange pick-up when needed.

Invitations to the first annual Tecumseh Ceremonial Feast will be mailed this week by Mrs. Clark Will and her committee. Numbered tickets will be included and these numbers will be activated by the Chillicothe office.

Further information may be obtained by contacting any Scioto Society trustee.

Food Decontrolled; No Big Hikes Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council is seeking to reassure consumers that food bills will not rise sharply in the months ahead as a result of the end of economic controls from retail and wholesale food.

The council lifted price and wage controls from both the retail and wholesale food industries Monday, two weeks earlier than it had to. All of the administration's waning price controls program is scheduled to expire on April 30.

But the council said that while some stores might increase prices, the decontrol would not have any over-all adverse impact on food prices during the remainder of the year.

Actually, many consumers might hope for lower prices on the food shelf, since the cost of many agricultural products has been declining at the farm level for several weeks.

But a decline in food prices at the retail level is not in the works either, council officials say.

Kenneth Fedor, head of the council's food division, said retail prices probably will remain about the same as food stores seek to recover some of the profits lost in earlier months when farm prices were rising sharply.

Although food prices rose 20 per cent last year and strained many a family food budget to the breaking point, the council said the retail food industry was not responsible. It said the industry generally complied very well with the administration's price control programs of the past 2½ years and that profitability of food retailers only began to recover last year after a general decline from 1969 through 1972.

The council said of the $18 billion increase in consumer food expenditures last year, $12 billion went directly to pay for rising farm prices, $5.9 billion for higher costs of such items as transportation, wages and taxes, with only $100 million of the increase going to the food industry.

Still subject to the administration's price control is much of the food manufacturing industry, including bakeries, the dairy industry, the cereal industry and processors of frozen foods. The canning industry was decontrolled previously.

Only a few major industries remain subject to controls with only two weeks to go in the controls program.

The decontrol of the retail and wholesale food industry freed from wage controls about 2.5 million employees in the food industry.

Heavy Battle Hits Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — North and South Vietnamese forces battled for six hours in the Central Highlands south of Pleiku and more than 250 casualties were counted, the Saigon command announced today.

The South Vietnamese government also announced it is suspending its participation in political talks with the Viet Cong in Paris because of increased Communist cease-fire violations. The talks to set up a Council of National Reconciliation and Concord and to arrange for national elections have been going on since March 19, 1973, but have made no progress.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the command, claimed 182 North Vietnamese were killed in the battle Monday, many of them by air and artillery strikes.

Government losses included 21 troops killed, Hien said.

He said the battle developed after North Vietnamese forces shelled and attacked a government ranger battalion of about 400 troops.

The battle took place to the north of Plei Me camp, which was manned by American forces in the 1960s but is now under government control.

A barrage of 60 rockets also hit a government base camp nine miles south of Pleiku, killing 12 persons, the South Vietnamese command said.

Farther south in the Highlands, 21 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed in a battle near Dak Song, 120 miles north of Saigon, the command said.

sought in the holdup.

The SLA claims it kidnaped Miss Hearst on Feb. 4.

Miss Hearst was identified from photographs taken by hidden cameras during the robbery. Pictures showed her with a U.S. Army carbine slung over her shoulder. A U.S. attorney recommended bail at $500,000 each for her and the three other women if they are caught.

The FBI said the bandits took $10,960. Two cars in which the robbers fled were recovered nine blocks away, but a search of a 20-block area by the FBI and police failed to turn up further clues.

The material witness warrant was issued for Miss Hearst in the absence of specific evidence indicating she participated in the hold-up "of her own free will" and because she may have "been acting under duress and coercion," FBI Special Agent Charles W. Bates said.

He told reporters, "We are not ruling out the possibility that she was a willing participant. On the other hand, there is evidence she was not."

Bates said a photo showing her with a gun also showed that "there was a gun held by another person on her."

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said, "If she was involved and investigation shows that, we're going to charge her as a bank robber. It is clear from the photographs she may have been acting under duress."

It was the first word of Miss Hearst since an April 3 taped message from the SLA in which she scorned her parents and said she had decided to "stay and fight" with her abductors.

Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, was in La Paz, Mexico, with his wife and two of his five daughters and could not be reached for comment on Monday's bank heist and Patricia's part in it.

The three others being sought were identified by the FBI as Nancy Ling Perry, said to be the writer of a lengthy communique explaining SLA philosophy and goals; Michelle Soltysek, also known as "Mizmoon," earlier identified as an SLA leader; and Camilla Christine Hall.

"They told people to lie on the floor and then they went to the tellers' cages and took the money....They were in and out within two minutes," said security officer Vincent Greely.

Greely and other witnesses said the group moved with military precision and communicated with hand signals.

"They came in and said, 'This is a stickup' and said they were members of the SLA," San Francisco Police Inspector Mortimer McNerny said.

Major Candidates For Ohio Offices Disclose Finances

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major candidates for statewide office in the May primary made income tax day 1974 the day to disclose their past financial histories.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, a candidate for re-election; U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, and John Glenn, candidates for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, unveiled their 1973 incomes Monday.

In other political news, Rep. Charles Fry, R-75 Springfield, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, proposed a public school financing plan modeled after a Michigan system.

James Nolan, an opponent of Gilligan for the Democratic nomination, urged the governor to return a "whopping surplus" collected from income taxes, unused parental aid funds and interest on unspent funds to the people.

Nolan estimated the state has a $326 million surplus in its treasury in the first nine months of fiscal 1974. Nolan recommended the funds be channeled to schools to avoid additional school tax levies.

Fry, who is running against former Gov. James Rhodes and Columbiana County Engineer Bert Dawson Jr., said the Michigan plan provides that the state add enough money to each mill of a school district's property tax to assure $40 per mill for each pupil, a statewide minimum.

Fry said Ohio's current system, initiated in 1935, is too complex for legislators, school officials and the public to understand.

Gilligan said he and his wife earned $45,875 last year and paid federal income taxes of $11,501. Metzenbaum disclosed that he and his wife paid federal taxes of $50,422 on a taxable income of $372,194. Glenn said he paid $29,074 taxes on earnings of $119,275 for him and his wife.

"I have stated repeatedly that five years ago I would have considered a request to make public my personal financial records an invasion of my privacy," Gilligan said in a statement.

"But in light of the scandals at all levels of government in recent years... I now feel that the invasion of privacy is warranted if the people of the state and this nation are to regain their faith in their elected and appointed leaders," he said.

Glenn renewed his attacks on Metzenbaum for withholding his income tax returns for earlier years. Glenn made a lengthy disclosure of his own tax returns earlier this year. Metzenbaum contends he has revealed more of his finances than any other U.S. senator.

based on their desire to see that Nixon is treated fairly.

It also stems from disappointment among many of them in Albert Jenner, chief minority counsel of the impeachment staff. They had expected him to reflect a Republican viewpoint in the investigation but he has worked closely with Doar and joined him in all major staff decisions.

Uncertain how vigorously Jenner will challenge facts gathered by the staff that could damage Nixon, the Republicans want St. Clair to do the job.

Faced with determined Republican opposition and a split in his own party's ranks over the issue, Rodino yielded last week and agreed in principle to much of what the Republicans are asking. The details will be worked out after the committee returns next week.

It is likely St. Clair's role will be more restricted than some Republicans want, as Rodino tries to strike a balance between the need to preserve the constitutional purity of the process as he sees it, and the need to assure that Nixon is treated fairly.

Nixon Actions Unite Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee resumes its impeachment inquiry next week with its Democratic majority and Republican minority more united than ever, thanks largely to the White House.

Always in danger of being undermined by party-line squabbling, the panel gained new unity in the resentment shared by most of its members over White House handling of the request for tape recordings of 42 presidential conversations.

"There is a loyalty to the House as well as a loyalty to the party," says Rep. Hamilton Fish, R-N.Y. "But the administration doesn't seem to understand that."

Another factor in the current bipartisan spirit within the committee has been the work of Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., whose handling of impeachment inquiry disputes has won praise from members of both parties.

Both unifying influences were at work last Thursday when the committee voted 33-3 to subpoena the tapes after waiting in vain since Feb. 25 for the White House to deliver them.

Although angry enough to support a subpoena vote, most Republican members favored one calling for only partial delivery of the 42 tapes when the meeting began. They were thrown into confusion when White House lawyer James St. Clair, hoping to avoid a subpoena, telephoned an offer to deliver some tapes, but not all.

After urging support for St. Clair's offer, the Republicans learned to their embarrassment he would not put it in writing and they dropped it.

Rodino's willingness to compromise also has healed the most serious breach yet threatened in the committee, on the role of St. Clair, as Nixon's counsel, in the inquiry.

With that attitude, he has opposed the idea put forward by the White House and the committee Republicans that St. Clair should have a right to participate fully in the committee's activities, calling his own witnesses, presenting his own evidence, and cross-examining other witnesses.

The zeal with which the Republicans have supported the idea is only partly

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied sharply today, stimulated by predictions that interest rates would soon turn downward again.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 10.56 at 854.35, and gainers outdistanced losers by about an 8-to-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the principal catalyst for the advance evidently was a prediction from New York's First National City Bank that short term interest rates would go as low as 6 per cent by late summer. The rapid climb of money rates lately has put most banks' prime lending rates at a record-tying 10 per cent.

Florida Power was the Big Board's most active stock, unchanged at 22½ in trading that included a 177,500-share block at 22.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .33 at 93.82.

The Amex volume leader was National Kinnay Corp., unchanged at 7½.

Council On Aging Hears State Planning Program

The Pickaway Council on Aging (formerly Committee on Aging) met April 10 in Pickaway Arms. This marked the beginning of the third year of operation of Pickaway Senior Center, for which the Council is the advisory body.

William L. Smith, vice-president, presided in the place of the president, Don A. Makarius, who was unable to

Claim Energy Programs Mostly Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency says the government's programs for energy conservation tend, so far, to be "a lot of rhetoric" instead of the "No. 1 priority" they should be.

Russell E. Train said in an interview Monday, "It is generally accepted that there should be efforts to reduce demand, but I don't think anyone has tried to make really a clear fix on the numbers."

Train was commenting about a proposal by Russell W. Peterson, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, to cut drastically the growth of energy use in the United States.

Peterson said, in another interview, that there is indeed agreement on "a major emphasis on energy conservation," but he added: "What is 'major' has yet to be determined."

Energy chief William E. Simon, whose Federal Energy Office has authority over energy-conservation programs, said on March 29: "Our energy conservation goal is to cut back in the growth in American energy consumption from the 4 to 5 per cent annual rate of increase over the past 20 years, to approximately 3 per cent."

Peterson, in contrast, urges cutting the energy growth rate to no more than 1.8 per cent.

"I'm going to try to sell as many people as I can on this lower goal," Peterson said. He said he would meet soon with Simon.

Train said he was studying Peterson's energy conservation plan.

"All the specific, concrete programs tend to be focused on the supply end — the breeder reactor, coal conversion — that's where the action is."

Mitchell Questioning Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell undergoes more cross-examination today in his criminal conspiracy trial after once again saying he is innocent.

Mitchell's codefendant, onetime Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, may take his place on the witness stand before the day is done. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" Mitchell was asked in the windup of his direct testimony Monday.

"Absolutely not guilty of any of the charges," replied Mitchell in a flat but firm voice.

The trial recessed with the 60-year-old Mitchell still under cross-examination by Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wing.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of obstructing a massive Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of international financier Robert L. Vesco, in exchange for the latter's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

The former Cabinet members are charged with conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury.

50 OU Students Go On Strike

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Some 50 Ohio University student workers went on strike today at the Nelson Commons cafeteria, citing refusal of union recognition by the university as one of their grievances.

Student Mark Stachwell, a union organizer, said a few non-academic employees refused to cross the picket lines. A university spokesman said the cafeteria, the university's largest, was open this morning.

The union said university recognition, pay increases, hiring practices and grievance procedures were the major issues in the work stoppage. The union represents about 200 of the school's 1,200 student employees.

be present.

Dick Patton was a special guest. He is the field representative from the Ohio Commission on Aging, serving Pickaway Senior Center. He explained the new area planning program which is being formulated throughout the State. Pickaway is in Area 6 which includes Franklin County and 6 other surrounding counties. The planning will cover all types of public services and will involve local, county and state agencies of all kinds.

In the case of the senior citizens programs, grant money will be handled through the present Franklin County Council on aging, which will be re-named within a short time. Patton explained also that through recent changes in federal laws, there will be an extension of federal and state funding support for the Pickaway Senior Center, for at least three years beyond the March 31, 1975 deadline which was originally set.

Some discussion was held regarding the commissioners support of the Senior Center. The legality of the question has been resolved by the prosecutor, but the bookkeeping technicalities remain to be determined.

Lunch together followed the meeting. The next regular meeting will be May 8 at the Center, with the executive committee meeting at 10 a.m. and the entire Council at 10:30 a.m. There will be a special goal planning session at the Center on Monday, April 29 at 9 a.m.

Chamber Discusses Disaster Plan

The Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce safety committee met noon Monday to discuss a community disaster plan.

According to William Stout, chairman of the safety committee, the chamber hopes to serve as a coordinator for a community plan.

He noted that many of the individual governmental agencies do have plans but the Xenia disaster has pointed out the need for coordination and updating these plans.

Representatives of the Circleville Police, fire department, the sheriff's office, Red Cross, civil defense, highway patrol, hospital, industry, concerned citizens attended the meeting which was held in the chamber office.

Out of the meeting came a plea for all industry, schools, businesses and individuals to formulate their own disaster plans and forward a copy to the chamber office. The plan should include the location of the place where occupants of the building will go in case of a tornado. This would greatly facilitate rescue work according to Stout.

He noted the city and county needs an improved warning system.

At another meeting to be held in the future, representatives of the schools and area utilities will be invited.

Detective Thompson cited Gilbert for no operator's license and false information and arrested Ricky Fultz, 18, Olivehill, Ky., who was a passenger in the auto, for lending his license to Gilbert.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Beginning May 1, new minimum wage laws involving both salary increases and extended coverage will apply to over 56 million workers in the country.

The minimum wage changes are the product of three years of debate in Congress, most of it centering on how much to increase the minimum wage, how long it would take to go into effect, who would be covered by it and whether the youth differential would be retained or not. A primary factor in all of these considerations was the impact these changes would have on the economy and how best to deal with inflation in the process.

There is no question that inflation was a major reason for wanting to increase the minimum wage in the first place. The cost-of-living has jumped by leaps and bounds since the last wage increase and those workers under the minimum wage have been caught in an economic vise squeezing more and more real purchasing power out of their dollars.

As a result, the new law will raise the minimum wage to an ultimate figure of $2.30 for all employees covered by it. The increases will take effect gradually with increments on a yearly basis. Specifically, most workers salaries would be raised to $2.00 an hour on May 1st. This includes all nonagricultural workers who were covered by the minimum wage act prior to the 1966 amendments. On January 1, 1975, their paychecks would be upped to $2.10 per hour and on January 1, 1976, they would reach the $2.30 an hour limit. Workers not covered until 1966 or until the new 1974 amendments would get $1.90 per hour initially on May 1, 1974 and would have subsequent raises to $2.00, $2.20 and $2.30 an hour on January 1st of the next three years.

In the category of workers newly covered by these 1974 amendments are federal, state and local employees, retail and service employees, domestic service or household workers, conglomerate employees (in agriculture), telegraph agency employees, motion picture theater employees, logging employees, and shade-grown tobacco processing employees. Roughly, this amounts to an additional 6.9 million workers covered by minimum wage legislation.

Agricultural employees under minimum wage legislation would receive a new salary of $1.60 on May 1st. In addition, they would enjoy 20 cents per hour increments on January 1st of each of the next three years, ultimately getting $2.30 per hour by January 1, 1978.

The new law also makes some changes in the employment of students. Full-time students can be employed at wage rates less than those prescribed in the law in retail and service establishments, agriculture, and institutions of higher education at which they are enrolled. The law stipulates that they may be employed at a wage rate of not less than 85 percent of the applicable minimum wage rate or $1.60 per hour, whichever is higher. A special certificate from the Department of Labor would be needed by the employer to hire students in this manner, however, which would acknowledge the employee's intent to work the students on a part-time basis not exceeding 20 hours in any workweek except during vacation periods. The employer would also have to show that hiring students at lower wages would not create "substantial probability of reducing the full-time employment opportunities" for other workers. The number of student workers allowed in retail or service establishments would be limited to the proportion applicable to the establishment in the preceding year, the maximum proportion to which the establishment was ever entitled or a proportion equal to 10 percent of its total workforce, whichever is greater. An employer who hires four students or less at a subminimum wage, however, could do so without following the traditional precertification process and educational institutions could also employ their own students without having to follow this procedure.

It has been eight years since the minimum wage has been increased and these new raises are a matter of simple justice for the millions of Americans covered by it. The changes are long overdue but hopefully now they will bring the salaries of these workers to a more realistic economic level.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Alex dutifully halted his car at the stop sign. At that point, which was about 30 feet back from the corner, his vision of the intersection was blocked by some high bushes. Nevertheless, he moved briskly into the crossing.

Result: a collision with a car coming along the other street.

Was Alex guilty of negligence? He insisted that he was not, pointing out in a court hearing that he had brought his car to a full stop at the sign.

"That's all the law requires," he said. "I stopped, looked, and listened at the designated place."

But the court found him guilty of negligence anyhow. The court said a "blind" corner imposes an extra duty on motorists—regardless of stop signs or traffic signals—to proceed with caution.

The law does recognize, however, that caution is a matter of degree. For example:

Another man also entered an intersection that he could not see because of shrubbery. But this time, the man edged forward at a snail's pace, glancing in both directions. Even though he still got in the way of an oncoming car and caused a collision, a court ruled afterward that he could not be held legally liable.

"The law does not require the impossible," said the court. "One cannot be held guilty of negligence because he is unable to see through impenetrable objects or to bend his vision around them."

What about the responsibility for making the intersection blind in the first place? Unless a special statute so provides, the local government ordinarily cannot be held liable for this kind of hazard.

However, courts have occasionally placed the blame on a private property owner who has brought such an obstruction into existence. Liability has been based on the theory that the condition of his premises could foreseeably cause some luckless motorist, some day, to get hurt.

Armstrong, Collins In Collision

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two self-styled country boys from southeastern Ohio are battling it out in a state senate primary race that has the attention of lawmakers all over the state.

The contestants are Sen. Harry L. Armstrong, R-17 Logan, and his former Senate colleague, now a House member, Rep. Oakley C. Collins, R-92 Ironton.

"I'm not running against him. He's running against me," smiled the 55-year-old Armstrong, a farmer and real estate man.

Armstrong shoved through his committee the tough strip mine bill that now is law.

"He drove me out of business," Collins told a friend of Armstrong.

Collins, 58, had been a strip mine operator until the bill became law.

The prize both are going after in the basically Republican district is the seat now held by Armstrong.

Reapportionment two years ago forced Collins to run for the House after 18 years in the Senate. He previously had one term in the House.

Armstrong has been in the Senate since 1966. He served four years in the House and has been a county commissioner and trustee.

District makeup has changed since reapportionment. Armstrong did well in garnering Democratic votes in the north. Now it is predominantly Republican with most of the GOP majority in Collins' backyard.

"I'll make a deal," grinned Collins. "I'll take my people along the Ohio River and he can keep everything in Hocking County."

It's a deal Armstrong won't buy. He is hoping to pick up a lead in Ross and Athens counties that will offset any Collins' majority along the river.

Armstrong also is hoping "Oke," as he calls Collins, isn't as popular back home as once he was. Collins squeaked into his House seat, but only four counties were involved.

The 17th Senate district includes eight counties and parts of three others. It runs from the Franklin County border to the Ohio River.

"I won't have the money 'Oke' has," said Armstrong, "but he'll know he's been in a fight."

Armstrong predicted Collins will spend $35,000 to his $18,000.

Both men have similar campaign styles. Both are great believers in what former President Lyndon B. Johnson called "pressing the flesh."

Armstrong jumped his campaign off to an early start, introducing a bill to make the bridge across the Ohio River in Ironton toll free. Ironton is Collins' home town.

Legislators chuckled. Collins only smiled. "He'll need more than that to beat me," he said.

Nightclub Comic Faces Tax Term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nightclub, television and movie entertainer Richard Pryor has pleaded guilty to one count of failing to file an income tax return for 1967.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Joel Levine said Monday that Pryor's income for 1967 exceeded $68,000. The government dropped charges against Pryor for failure to file returns for 1968-70 on income put at $181,000.

Pryor, 34, could receive as much as a year in prison and a $10,000 fine as a result of the plea. Federal Judge Manuel Real set sentencing for May 6.

A Moveable Feast

By BOB COSIDINE

NEW YORK — Christmas always comes on December 25, and July 4th on July 4th. But Easter... well, Easter's something else. Even the Encyclopedia Britannica has trouble explaining its date in Basic English: "Easter day in the West is the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after the vernal equinox; if the full moon occurs on a Sunday, Easter day is the Sunday after. Easter therefore can fall between March 22 and April 25 inclusive. The rule was fixed after much controversy and uncertainty..."

Really?

Item: Nobody seems to know where the word Easter came from. Bede, the 8th century English historian and Benedictine monk, assumed it came from the Anglo-Saxon spring goddess Eostre.

How did the eggs get into the act? Well, the eating of eggs during Lent was once considered sinful. Easter being the end of Lent, eggs came out in all their glory, painted in festive colors to accentuate their absolution. The egg also symbolized new life and resurrection. Certain churches blessed eggs and they became a part of the liturgy of the Easter services. Children, for some obscure reason, rolled them down grassy hills in England, and for many years that has been a tradition on Easter Monday at the White House. Children carrying baskets of eggs will not be frisked by White House guards, a rare concession for these highly wary days.

The contest of knocking Easter eggs together to see which shell can survive the pounding began in Greece as a religious ceremony. A Greek banging his red-colored egg against the red-colored egg of a friend would exclaim, "Christ is risen." The other egg-banger would reply, "He is indeed." (Ed. Note: Please: no questions.)

Now back to the dear old Encyclopedia for a stimulating explanation about the Easter rabbit:

"The hare, the symbol of fertility in ancient Egypt, a symbolism which is kept in Europe, is not found in North America and its place is taken by the following a disaster of this magnitude, followed by the long task of repairing and replacing material losses. An equally important priority, however, should be placed on the only real defense against tornadoes: adequate warnings and giving heed to the warnings.

The National Weather Service had warnings out in advance in most places touched by the tornadoes. But one comment made immediately following a strike in one town farmers are still convinced they face a choice of extending their holdings or getting out. They are convinced the day of the diversified farmer with his varied crops is gone.

Yet there are many rugged farmers who are fighting to hold on to small operations. There are many part-timers in the field. Some are on their way to becoming bigger operators. Like their city counterparts, was that tornado warnings were so common a large part of the population apparently paid little attention.

Such warnings are common in the geographical belt visited most often by tornadoes, but so are conditions which generally precede formation of the storms. The Weather Service cannot guarantee a tornado's formation.

Only the foolish ignore the warnings unless they see a dark funnel approaching. By then it could be too late.

farm wives are taking on jobs to aid the family fortunes. Small farmers themselves have taken jobs in industry to increase their incomes.

This situation is reflected in various studies of who earned last year's farm income. The consensus of these is that more than one-third of the total was credited to men farming on a part-time basis.

No one with a jigger of Irish blood in him can fail to thrill (and weep) over the Easter Rising of 1916 and the martyrs who went to their deaths for searching out freedom.

A final thing about those eggs: At Chester (Eng.) Cathedral, the bishop and the dean are said to have engaged in an egg-throwing match with the choir boys when the antiphon "Quem queritis" was sung on Easter day.

Worst waste I've heard of since a daughter-in-law painted and distributed three dozen eggs she forgot to boil first.

Hearing Set On Prison Picketing

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A hearing on a preliminary injunction was scheduled today to stop picketing members of two unions from blocking entry to the Ohio State Reformatory.

Some 260 of the prison's 450 employees walked out Saturday leaving a skeleton crew of 60 supervisory and treatment workers to handle the 1,700 inmates, state officials said.

The Department of Rehabilitation and Correction won a restraining order Saturday in Richland County Common Pleas Court to unclog prison entrances of pickets.

The order was ignored, according to Joe Ashley, a spokesman for the corrections department.

The two unions—the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association—reportedly submitted a list of complaints five months ago. No disagreement over wages was involved.

Ashley said the complaints ranged from unsanitary conditions in the dining room to safety and security procedures.

Ohio officials and union representatives were in late-night bargaining talks Monday.

The grievances were presented last week to Bennett J. Cooper, director of the state agency. He was out of town, however, when Monday's meeting was announced.

Connecticut Doctor Aids Xenia Victims

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A Southport, Conn., physician gave $20 Monday as the first contributor to Marathon '74, a 540-hour broadcast to raise money for tornado-devastated Xenia, Ohio, and to support public radio station WKSU-FM.

Half the proceeds of the April 19-21 marathon will go to Xenia, the station said.

Dr. Donald C. Bell said he found a helium balloon promoting the event on his driveway Easter Sunday.

"I was moved to think that the wind that could bring so much destruction could also bring a message for help," he said in a telephone call. "I only wish I could give more."

Ohio Weather

By The Associated Press

A high pressure system is expected to dominate Ohio's weather picture through Wednesday, bringing fair skies to the state. One exception is the possibility of some light showers in the extreme south Tuesday afternoon. This shower area will develop in response to a weak low passing eastward south of Ohio.

Temperatures will grow warmer across the state Tuesday afternoon with the return of sunshine.

The overcast which hung over the state Monday began to clear from the west during the night and by sunrise skies over the western two-thirds of the state had cleared. The temperatures at daybreak ranged from the low 30s under clear skies in the west, to the low 40s in the cloud-covered east.

Shawnee Elementary Back In Business

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Shawnee Elementary School will be back in the business of education Thursday, as federal disaster officials evacuate the temporary one-stop center Wednesday night. Officials are shifting to the YMCA.

Federal officials say the move will mean no interruption of food and medical services or child care for victims of an April 3 tornado.

Meanwhile, a disaster suboffice opened Monday in the federal building in Cincinnati to serve storm victims in the area.

"You have it all wrong, lady — it's your home thermostat that you keep at 68 and your car at 55!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it possible to have gall bladder disease without gall stones? I have just had X-rays and no stones were seen.
Mrs. H. M. B., Fla.

Dear Mrs. B.:

The gall bladder, like all other organs of the body, can become infected and inflamed.

In most instances this condition, known as cholecystitis, is caused by the irritation of a small stone. When once the tiny tubes leading to and from the gall bladder are irritated, the lining becomes swollen and the passage of bile is interfered with.

Pain is probably the most outstanding symptom of this condition. The pain, normally located in the right upper portion of the abdomen, may radiate to the shoulder and to the back.

The severe pain may simulate a variety of conditions which must all be ruled out before the gall bladder can positively be identified as the culprit.

Disease of the liver, the stomach and even pneumonia and heart disease may be confused with this difficult diagnosis.

X-ray studies with dyes can show evidence of gall bladder infection, even in the absence of stones.

I have been taking antihistamine

Miss E. N., Ohio

Dear Miss N.:

This is an unlikely explanation for the persistence of your allergic symptoms. Yet it would be worthwhile to shift from one antihistamine to another. The choice, of course, should be made by your physician who can best evaluate the situation.

If antihistamines are ineffective, then further allergic study and treatment should be considered.

Is it possible for someone who is markedly overweight to be anemic?
Mr. T. W., La.

Dear Mr. W.:

Your assumption is wrong that people who are overweight eat nutritious foods and therefore should not be anemic.

There need be no relationship between the two.

It must be also emphasized that there are many different types of anemia completely unrelated to dietary intake. Only a detailed study of the blood can accurately show the kind and the severity of the anemia and point the way to treatment.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The outcry against those big oil company profits illustrates the public doubts about the established ethics and goals of business and the slow, frustrating search for something new.

Isn't it the goal of business to make money? Every last nickel it can earn within the law? Until the game rules are changed it can be argued that to do so is the responsibility of corporate officers to shareholders.

But off and on for the past few decades the country has showed little faith in that philosophy. During the past weekend Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent said:

"If everyone rushes to grab every fast nickel, the inflation fires will be ignited anew and there will be a certain and volatile reaction from Congress and the people."

Dent was referring to the removal of Phase 4 price restraints April 30, but neither he nor anyone else has declared what should be the new criterion of corporate performance. If not profits, what?

One of the problems, it seems, is bigness itself. Another is shortages.

Bigness has long been feared in the United States because of the dangers of monopoly. But it is possible for small companies to compete internationally with the European and Japanese giants? Unlikely.

Is it fair for a company to profit from shortages? The old supply-demand law is that prices rise when demand exceeds supply. But can it apply in an age of pervasive and critical shortages?

A curious, shortage-related problem involves the dichotomy of thought that must be assumed by some corporate officers, such as in oil companies and utilities, in telling customers not to buy their product.

If it isn't the duty of a company to sell as much as it can and make as much profit as it can, then what is its duty? The need for an answer is pressing; forthcoming, it would relieve much confusion.

Various businessmen, government officials, academicians and others have probed this endlessly deep question, but a consensus hasn't yet been developed. What agreement there is appears to be this:

A corporation's duty is to make money for stockholders and workers but only if in the process it can also be a good corporate citizen.

The requirement isn't that it merely operate within the law, in regard to ecology and fair wages and working conditions, but that it promote the good of the community in ways that aren't immediately remunerative.

That is, the structure of the corporation can be called upon for more than profits and wages; it can also improve health, solve urban problems, provide education, offer retirement security.

Lima State Fees Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state Sundry Claims Board will be asked to provide $30,000-$40,000 to pay legal fees for 28 Lima State Hospital employees fired for patient abuse, an employees organization says.

Herschel M. Sigall, director of the Ohio State Government Employees Association, said Monday all state employees are "clearly entitled to the same support from their employer which is now being extended to national guardsmen who find themselves in difficulty as a result of their actions in behalf of the State of Ohio."

The reference was to the state's decision to pay for the defense of eight former guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

The 28 hospital employees were ordered returned to their jobs with back pay after completion of the litigation.

Sigall said his union, Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, will ask the legislature to protect employees in similar cases in the future.

Peter Fonda's Marriage Ends

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The 12-year marriage of actor-producer Peter Fonda and his wife, Susan, has ended in divorce.

Mrs. Fonda was granted $2,500 a month in alimony and $500 a month in support for each of the couple's two children, Bridget, 10, and Justin 7. Wells ordered that community property be divided.

Fonda is the son of actor Henry Fonda and brother of actress Jane Fonda.

Two Park Rangers Complete Law Program

Claude Kifer, A. W. Marion Park Ranger and Steven Flack, Deer Creek Reservoir Park Ranger, Friday, completed Ohio's most extensive training program in law enforcement and state park operation offered to park employees.

The eight-week training course, conducted by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, "marks the first time in Ohio history that rangers have been given thorough, professional instruction to prepare them for the demands of their jobs," said Natural Resources Director William B. Nye.

According to Nye, the program is a direct response to Governor John J. Gilligan's mandate that state employees be provided the best possible training for the positions they fill.

The rangers, all employees of DNR's division of parks and recreation, received 360 hours of both academic and physical training.

The course work consisted of more than 50 subjects, including communications, enforcement techniques, juvenile problems, narcotics, search and rescue procedures, human relations, public relations, self-defense and environmental education.

"The increasing number of people

visiting our state parks has brought with it a corresponding increase in the number of problems that rangers encounter in the day-to-day operation of the parks," Nye said. "That is why it is imperative to set up a structured training program designed specifically for park rangers.

The course was conducted at the Lake Hope Environmental Resource Center in Zaleski State Forest.

Two more training sessions are scheduled for the remainder of Ohio's full-time park rangers, and the course will then be conducted annually to train new rangers.

The program is being funded by a $59,000 federal grant allocated by the U.S. Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration plus $21,000 in state funds to pay salaries and provide equipment and supplies for a project director and four park district coordinators.

"State funds for the training program were made possible by the state income tax," Nye said. "I think people will agree the money is well-spent. I know the rangers had an opportunity to put their training to good use during the last days of the training

Ten cases involving youths charged with shoplifting at Buckeye Mart were heard in Pickaway County Juvenile Court this past week. Juvenile Judge Guy G. Cline also heard cases against four other delinquent offenders and one traffic offender. Five youths were released from probation and three cases were dismissed during the week's docket.

A 16-year-old Adelphi boy and a 13-year-old Route 4 girl were arrested for shoplifting at Buckeye Mart and were placed on probation for three years each. A sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission was suspended in each of the cases.

The girl along with a 14-year-old Tarlton miss faced charges filed by a citizen for theft. The girls were charged with stealing a ladies purse and its contents and a class ring. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission in each of the cases and placed both girls on probation for three years. The Tarlton girl was also ordered by the court to complete 50 hours of community work.

Three years probation was the session when they were dispatched to the tornado-ravaged city of Xenia at the direction of Governor Gilligan. They provided help with traffic control and manned security posts.

sentence for a 14-year-old Route 2 boy and two Route 1, Laurelville girls charged with shoplifting at Buckeye Mart. The girls were 13 and 14 years of age.

Shoplifting charges were filed by Buckeye Mart authorities against a 17-year-old Route 4, Chillicothe boy. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and ordered the boy to complete 50 hours of community work. The youth was also placed on probation for three years.

A violation of probation charge followed a charge of theft at Buckeye Mart filed against a 14-year-old Route 4, Circleville girl. Judge Cline suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission in both cases and ordered the girl to continue on probation. She was also ordered into jail for four weekends.

Two Route 1, Laurelville sisters were also cited into court for stealing at Buckeye Mart. The girls ages 14 and 15 were each placed on probation for three years. One year probation was the sentence for a 12-year-old Route 2, Ashville boy arrested for the same charge.

Sgt. Larry Pontious of the Circleville Police Department filed charges in the juvenile court against a 16-year-old Hillsboro boy for breaking and entering the Ralston Purina Company and grand larceny. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and placed the boy on probation for three years. He was also ordered into detention for five weekends and given credit for two days already served in jail.

A 15-year-old Route 1, Williamsport girl faced three charges in the juvenile court. Three years probation was the sentence after she was convicted of being incorrigible, truant from school and truant from home. Judge Cline also suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission.

The mother of a 13-year-old child was ordered to pay support, expenses and poundage for her child who was placed in the care of the Pickaway County Children's Services because it lacked proper care and support. The parents of two Route 4 children were also ordered by the court to pay support for their children.

A case charging David Weaver, 17, 381 Cedar Heights with failure to yield the right of way to a pedestrian was dismissed for lack of prosecution. Another dismissed case involved a 15-year-old Ashville girl charged with excessive absence from school.

Charges of neglect were dismissed by the assistant county prosecutor, James R. Kingsley, in which a 12-year-old Route 1, Ashville child was reportedly neglected by his parents.

Two Circleville boys, ages 13 and 14,

had charges against them dismissed. The youths were charged with attempted theft.

Aggravated menacing of two children brought three years probation to a 13-year-old Tarlton boy.

The court found two area children to be neglected. A 17-year-old Route 1, Ashville girl was ordered into the temporary care of the Pickaway County Children's Services and a 12-year-old Route 1, Ashville boy was placed in the temporary care of his grandmother.

Breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling and theft of $625 in cash from the residence brought three years probation to a 17-year-old Route 3, Orient boy. The boy also received a suspended sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission.

In conclusion of the week's cases, five boys were released from probation. Most of the youths had served the time sentenced them by the court for charges filed earlier.

Transit Firm Being Sued For Failure

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati taxi driver who organized a spring trip to Florida for 124 Ohio college students is suing a Dayton transit line which failed to provide buses for the trip.

Dante Soiu is seeking $239,246.48 in damages from Megacity Transit Lines for breach of contract and civil fraud.

Soiu's lawyer filed legal action Monday in Dayton. Soiu charged the bus line had cost him a sizeable deposit with a Florida motel.

Named as defendants in the suit were Megacity President David P. White; Sharon Lewis, the firm's secretary-treasurer and Marian Peters, office manager and head agent of the company's Hamilton station.

Left stranded were students from University of Cincinnati and Xavier University.

Soiu said he planned the trip to pay off debts for his college education. He is an honor graduate from Xavier.

He said students would be repaid their $125 deposits "as soon as the action is settled and I have the money."

John Sawhill New Energy Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to name John C. Sawhill as the next federal energy chief to succeed William E. Simon, sources say.

Sawhill, 37, who has been deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office since it was formed last December, will take over after Simon is named secretary of the Treasury, probably later this week.

Simon, however, is expected to still keep his hand in energy policy, with Sawhill running day-to-day operations.

Sawhill's selection is somewhat of a surprise, especially because he contradicted Nixon on the extent of the energy crisis after the President held a news conference earlier this year.

But sources said Sawhill's strong support on Capitol Hill and the need to maintain continuity in the energy job outweighed opposition in the White House to the deputy administrator.

Nevertheless, there was intense White House debate over whether Sawhill should get the job, in view of his outspoken nature.

Although Simon will be maintaining a strong interest in energy policy at the Treasury, he will not be named an assistant to the President, as was his predecessor, George P. Shultz.

Sawhill, a native of Baltimore, came to the energy post from the Office of Management and Budget, where he had been in charge of energy programs since April 1973.

His background includes jobs as a business executive with the Commercial Credit Co. and McKinsey & Co.

A graduate of Princeton University with a doctorate in economics from New York University, Sawhill for three years in the early 1960s served as assistant dean and professor at NYU's graduate school of business administration.

Crash Injuries Fatal

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A hospital spokesman said Kenneth Webb, 22, of Warren, died Monday of injuries he received Saturday when the car he was driving crashed into a utility pole.

Taft Bares Finances

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, Monday made public his income tax returns for the past three years, announcing he and his wife paid $84,212.68 in 1973 taxes on $113,175 adjusted gross income.

Taft listed his adjusted gross income in 1972 as $392,753 and in 1971 as $145,537.

He submitted the information to the Ohio Ethics Commission and Ohio secretary of state.

Taft said in a statement: "I have requested filing of this report since it seems to me to be proper to make it available to the public."

He said he earned $42,500 as a Congressman, and received $8,325 in honoraria, $32,709 in dividends and $25,559 in 1973. He said he deducted $37,645 from his gross income for charities and other reasons.

Taft estimated if he had filed a separate return from his wife, his 1973 income tax would have been $38,168.

Research in the United States indicates that if seat belts were used in every car in the nation, 5,000 lives would be saved every year and severity of injuries reduced by 60 per cent.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and proposing to enact section 20a of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to equalize the compensation of public officers and members of the General Assembly.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and a proposal to enact section 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to read as follows:

ARTICLE II

Section 20. The General Assembly, in cases not provided for in this constitution, shall fix by law the term of office and the compensation of all public officers; but no change therein shall affect the compensation of any officer during his existing term, unless the office be abolished; provided, however, that if an officer elected to the same office from the same district on taking office receives a greater compensation, such rate of compensation shall thereupon be payable to each of the other officers holding the same office in that district.

An officer who is appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall not be entitled to receive more compensation than any elected officer holding the same office in the same district is receiving at the time such appointed officer takes office.

Section 31. The members and officers of the General Assembly shall receive a fixed compensation to be prescribed by law, and no other allowance or perquisites, either in the payment of postage or otherwise; and no change in their compensation shall take effect during the legislative biennium within which it was made.

Section 20a. Notwithstanding Section 20 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio, any increase in compensation fixed by the General Assembly for any public officer, which, because of its being made during his term of office, does not become payable to such officer until after two years from the date of its enactment, shall nevertheless become effective and payable on and after the effective date of the enactment of such increase in compensation.

SCHEDULE

The secretary of state shall place upon the ballot as separate issues the proposal to amend sections 20 and 31 of Article II, and the proposal to enact sections 20a of Article II, of the Constitution of Ohio, so as to permit the electorate to vote separately on each such proposal.

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendments, at the primary election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, adopt the same, they shall become part of the Constitution of the State of Ohio and existing sections 20 and 31 of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio shall be repealed.

(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 61)

JOINT RESOLUTION

To amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for preparation of the language which appears on the ballot when the General Assembly proposes a constitutional amendment so that it will properly identify the substance of the proposal, to provide procedures for timely challenges to the adoption and submission of such amendments, and to assure notification to the voters about such amendments.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at a special election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1974, a proposal to amend Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. Either branch of the general assembly may propose amendments to this constitution; and, if the same shall be agreed to by three-fifths of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays, and shall be filed with the secretary of state at least ninety days before the date of the election at which they are to be submitted to the electors, for their approval or rejection. They shall be submitted on a separate ballot without party designation of any kind, at either a special or a general election as the general assembly may prescribe.

The ballot language for such proposed amendments shall be prescribed by a majority of the Ohio ballot board consisting of the secretary of state and four other members, who shall be designated in a manner prescribed by law and not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. The ballot language shall properly identify the substance of the proposal to be voted upon. The ballot need not contain the full text of a condensed text of the proposal. The board shall also prepare an explanation of the proposal, which may include its purpose and effects, and shall certify the ballot language and the explanation to the secretary of state not later than seventy-five days before the election. The ballot language and the explanation shall be available for public inspection in the office of the secretary of state.

The supreme court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction in all cases challenging the adoption or submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to the electors. No such case challenging the ballot language, the explanation, or the actions or procedures of the general assembly in adopting and submitting a constitutional amendment shall be filed later than sixty-four days before the election. The ballot language shall not be held invalid unless it is such as to mislead, deceive, or defraud the voters.

Unless the general assembly otherwise provides by law for the preparation of arguments for and, if any, against a proposed amendment, the board may prepare such arguments.

Such proposed amendments, the ballot language, the explanations, and the arguments, if any, shall be published once a week for three consecutive weeks preceding such election, in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county of the state, where a newspaper is published. The general assembly shall provide by law for other dissemination of information in order to inform the electors concerning proposed amendments. An election on a proposed constitutional amendment submitted by the general assembly shall not be enjoined nor invalidated because the explanation, arguments, or other information is faulty in any way. If the majority of the electors voting on the same shall adopt such amendments the same shall become a part of the constitution. When more than one amendment shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment, separately.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect and existing Section 1 of Article XVI of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

A Childless Marriage

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for six years, and I definitely have made my mind up that I do not want any children. My husband says if that's the way I feel about it it's alright with him.

The problem is that I want him to have a vasectomy—an operation to make him sterile. (My brother-in-law had one and he says it was a breeze.) My husband says he doesn't want that kind of operation, and he thinks it's up to me to either take the necessary precautions or have an operation to make me sterile.

I would like your opinion.

NO CHILDREN THANKS

DEAR NO: Since it was your decision to have no children, I think it's up to you to take the precautions instead of insisting that your husband subject himself to a vasectomy. Be realistic. If you were to divorce your husband (or die) and he were to marry again, he and his next mate might want children. As for a vasectomy being a "breeze," one man's breeze is another man's gale.

DEAR ABBY: I am so heartsick this morning after getting very little sleep last night.

My sister-in-law informed me yesterday that my husband (her brother) plays golf just to get away from me!

I was so crushed I couldn't find the words to answer her. I've been married for 35 years and always thought I had a good marriage and now this. Please tell me how to handle it.

MRS. M.

DEAR MRS. M.: Is there a possibility that she was joking? If not, she clearly meant to hurt you, and the only way to deal with someone who intentionally hurts you is from a distance, and as infrequently as possible.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this nice young man exclusively for seven months. He didn't ask me to go steady. I just don't care to go out with anyone else. He doesn't go with anyone else either, so I guess you'd say we're going steady.

My problem is my mother. She has told me that she doesn't want me to date him anymore. Just like that! The reason: He's too short! (He's exactly

AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Total liveweight of meat animals produced on the nation's farms and ranches was down last year but the higher prices pushed the value of production to a record $26.3 billion, up from $19.7 billion in 1972, says the Agriculture Department.

As used by USDA, livestock "production" means the gains in liveweight of animals during a particular year. It includes new births and the weight gains of older animals.

Thus, according to the department's Crop Reporting Board, total 1973 output of cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs was 62.5 billion pounds, compared with 63.3 billion in 1972.

The figures represent last year's weight gains of stock kept on farms, feedlots and ranches plus the 1973 added weights of animals marketed. For example, if a 600-pound steer on Jan. 1, 1973 was sold later in the year at 1,000 pounds, it added 400 pounds to the 1973 "production" total.

The analysis also showed that cash receipts from livestock sales in 1973 totaled a record $30.7 billion, up from $23.9 billion in 1972. That includes the "production" or weights of animals from 1972 and earlier years.

In other words, using the same example, when a 1,000-pound steer was sold in 1973 its entire market value was included although 600 pounds of its weight was produced before Jan. 1, 1973.

That is why the gross cash receipts of $30.7 billion in 1973 were shown to be sharply higher than last year's $26.3 billion "value of production" during the same time span.

The report also illustrated what happened in the cattle business last year. Production of cattle and calves in 1973 actually was a record high of 41.5 billion pounds, up about one per cent from 1972. But USDA said in earlier reports that beef output by slaughter plants dropped 6 per cent in 1973.

Thus, statistically, the report indicated what USDA experts have been saying all along: There is a buildup in cattle herd numbers despite last years' decline in beef output for supermarket counters.

The report said cash receipts from cattle marketings soared 25 per cent in 1973 to a record $22.7 billion. Hog sales were put at $7.5 billion, despite a 5 per cent dip in 1973 production to 20.1

billion pounds.

The average price for cattle last year was $42.80 per 100 pounds liveweight, compared with $33.50 in 1972. Hogs were $38.40 per 100 pounds last year, up from $25.10 in 1972, the report said.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
88th House District

The General Assembly has adjourned for an Easter and primary election break. All 99 House seats and 17 seats in the Senate are up for election. The legislature will convene again on May 14th to wrap up the remaining work of the 110th General Assembly.

Legislation on no-fault insurance, regulation of abortion, and landlord and tenants rights will probably be considered at that time.

The State Controlling Board, primarily composed of state representatives and senators, will consider an emergency request for $1 million to begin cleanup and repair work at Central State University.

A majority of the controlling board members have expressed their support for the release of funds.

The situation requires us to act now before further damage occurs. Many of the Central State buildings are without roofs; walls are collapsed, windows are broken, and utilities are inoperable. The State Architect's office is working on an engineering report that will give us a more complete picture of the total damage on a building-by-building basis, but for the present, we must get underway with emergency repairs.

The funds are to be used to clean up the buildings and grounds to protect the safety of people; to restore the utilities as necessary and to take whatever action is required to protect the contents of the buildings' furnishings, equipment and supplies.

The $1 million is to be made available from appropriations made to Central State University in the 1974-75 biennial capital improvements act.

I have mentioned in earlier weeks how Ohioans stricken by the tornadoes or strong winds could apply for emergency financial help from the state. Since this is such an important item, I would like to detail these procedures again.

The Ohio Department of Public Welfare, through county welfare departments, offers Immediate Need Assistance to families and individuals who need help in repairing or replacing homes, furniture, and other belongings as a result of disaster. The assistance is available to all Ohioans, regardless of eligibility for other welfare programs, who can show need created through no fault of their own. Applications for Immediate Need Assistance are taken at all county welfare department offices in Ohio.

The program covers three main categories of applicants:

1. Family Emergency — Provides financial and medical assistance to families with children under age 21 regardless of whether the family meets requirements for continuing help through the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) program.
2. Pending Adult — Provides financial and medical aid to physically handicapped and other persons whose needs are not being met by other government agencies such as Veterans Administration or Social Security.
3. Supplemental Emergency — Helps individuals and families already receiving public assistance who meet with an unexpected emergency for which immediate aid is needed.

There are essentially three eligibility requirements an applicant must show:

1. A need immediate enough that help cannot be delayed without risking severe consequences.
2. Applicant lacks sufficient funds to meet immediate needs.
3. Need did not arise because applicant turned down legitimate opportunity for employment.

Columbus Man Held
In Robbery, Assault

SELIGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — A Columbus, Ohio man was arrested near Flagstaff Monday and charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to commit murder.

The Yavapai County attorney's office said Lloyd Vincent Murphy, 23, and a Las Vegas, Nevada man were both charged in connection with the apparent robbery and shooting of Thomas Richard Manning, 23, of Flagstaff at a rest area near here.

Cincy Zoo
State Record
For Gorillas

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Cincinnati Zoo now holds the world record for lowland gorilla births— thanks to two gorilla couples "who are deeply in love."

The seventh birth was recorded Monday when Penelope and King Tut became the parents of a three-pound, 11-ounce female.

An eighth arrival is expected within the month from mother-to-be Mahari and her beau Hatari.

The newborn gorilla was immediately abandoned by her mother, and zoo director Ed Maruska credited two on-duty college students with saving the young animal's life.

The unnamed gorilla's chances of survival are good, Maruska said.

The birth gave Cincinnati undisputed claim for the most lowland gorilla births. Basel, Switzerland, had shared the record with six.

"We're running out of room," said Maruska. "We've filled the gorilla house and now we're working on the lion house," he laughed.

An open-roofed rain forest building is planned for the fastgrowing family.

Maruska said he has received requests from "all over the country" from other zoos interested in purchasing a pair of young breeding gorillas.

The value of the animals has risen sharply since the United States placed a moratorium on importing gorillas. He estimated the value of the new arrival at $10,000.

John Dean Credibility
Rating Rises

NEW YORK (AP) — John W. Dean III has more credibility in regard to the Watergate cover-up than President Nixon, according to a Harris poll taken last month.

Forty-six per cent of those surveyed said they believed Dean more than Nixon, contrasting sharply with 38 per cent who attributed more credibility to Nixon in a poll last July.

In last month's poll, 29 per cent said they believed Nixon more than Dean, the ousted White House counsel, and 25 per cent said they were not sure.

Last July, 37 per cent believed Dean's testimony and 25 per cent were not sure whom they believed.

The latest poll was conducted March 24 to 29 among a cross-section of 1,495 adults.

In answer to a question whether they believed Dean's charge that Nixon knew about the Watergate cover-up, 52 per cent said last month they believed Dean. Last July, 50 per cent said they believed Dean's charge was true.

Republican and Southerners think Nixon is more truthful than Dean, Harris said. Among white Protestants over 50 years old, Dean and Nixon believers were evenly divided.

Battelle To Test
Anticancer Drugs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Potential anticancer drugs that already have passed the safety and side-effects screening and are in use to combat tumors in mice will be evaluated in the next two years by Battelle Memorial Institute.

The National Cancer Institute awarded a $3.8 million testing contract Monday to Battelle, and Dr. William Clarke, technical manager in the program, says anywhere from 10 to 20 drugs a year could be tested.

"They originate all across this country and throughout the world, so it just depends on how many get through the first screening system," Clarke said.

Scientists at Battelle will be working to identify the amount of each compound necessary to stop a tumor from spreading without harming the individual, Clarke explained.

"With any anticancer drug, you're

Clear Skies Prevalent
In Mid-U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers sprinkled the Mississippi Valley today while clouds darkened the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

But clear skies, with crisp temperatures, prevailed in most of the nation's midsection from the Plains to the upper Great Lakes.

Showers and scattered thundershowers continued to drench the Gulf Coast states from Texas to Florida, and rain splashed into portions of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Clouds along the Eastern Seaboard extended inland as far as Ohio, and a few areas of light rain also dampened the East Coast.

Cool air swept by northerly winds into much of the eastern half of the nation. Frost and freeze warnings were issued for northern Indiana, West Virginia and the mountains of Virginia and Maryland.

At the other end of the country, clear skies and warm temperatures were common in the Southwest. But while readings were mild farther north along the Pacific Coast, skies were mostly cloudy.

Negotiations Slated
In Columbus Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Negotiations will resume later this week between Local 487 of the Textile Workers of America, and Columbus Coated Fabrics plant, a union spokesman said Monday.

Corwin Smith, president of the local, said the decision was made following a meeting between both sides with federal mediators in Washington last week.

Phase 2 of the plant's plan to remove equipment and materials out of a company warehouse in Worthington has also been suspended until Thursday.

Approve Mobile Home Housing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati City Council Monday passed an emergency measure authorizing use of mobile homes as temporary housing in tornado-ravaged Saylor Park.

The action was taken after Martin Walsh Jr., director of the city's Buildings and Inspections Department, told council 30 to 80 mobile homes would eventually be needed.

Council also authorized City Manager E. Robert Turner to allow mobile homes in other areas of the city where residents might be homeless.

The emergency ordinance is effective for one year, but it provides for six-month extensions.

Are you Wasting
fuel?

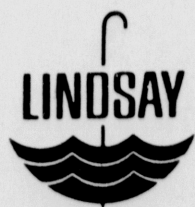

If you have hard water, you probably are wasting fuel for water heaters and radiator type heating systems. Here's why: minerals in hard water build up a crusty scale in boilers, plumbing, heaters and appliances. This scale can be so thick that it can stop the flow of water in pipes and completely clog washers and heaters. But even a little scale can rob you of fuel, because the cost of fuel for a water heater or hot water heating system increases in direct proportion to the thickness of the scale in the tank. With just 1/8" of scale, 33 1/3% more fuel is needed.

soft water removes
hardness scale

Thickness of Scale	% Increase in Fuel Required
1/32 in.	25%
1/16 in.	29%
1/8 in.	33 1/3%

The flow of soft water through your plumbing and heating system removes hardness scale, cuts out this fuel loss. So, save energy with soft water!

You're way ahead with Lindsay Soft Water. Save on fuel (the amount of electricity required for a softener is about as much as used by an electric clock) and save on cleaning aids and detergents, too!

Commissioners Announce Plans To Purchase Home

Pickaway County Commissioners announced Monday that part of the funds from the sale of the Bowsher Estate farm in Saltcreek Twp. will be used to purchase Hedges Home for Boys located on South Court Street.

The farm was willed to the county and money from its sale was to be used for the children's home and for care for the elderly. Another farm in the estate located in Pickaway Twp. was willed to Berger Hospital. Both were sold at public auction Saturday.

The children's home east of town on Route 22 is no longer used by the county. It was condemned several years ago by state authorities.

However, the county does operate a home for girls on East Main Street which it owns and Hedges Home on South Court for boys which it leases from the Berger Hospital board of governors.

The farm in Saltcreek Twp. was purchased at public auction by George Seimer at $550 per acre. It contains 157 acres. Commissioners said they have not determined how they will allocate the part of the purchase price which is to be used for care for the elderly.

The Pickaway Twp. farm was sold to Charles Kreisel at $930 an acre.

Funds from the sale of this 155 acre farm will be used for the proposed addition to the hospital.

In other business Monday afternoon, commissioners discussed a proposed multi-county solid waste disposal plan with Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian.

Blaney said plans for this new concept in solid waste disposal have been tentatively approved by both FHA and EPA.

"Everybody wants to see this project get off the ground so it may be used as a pilot project for other solid waste disposal systems," Blaney told the commissioners.

Counties that have been interested in this plan include Pickaway, Fayette, Ross, Pike and Scioto. Blaney said it is so designed that it can be initiated as soon as any one of the interested counties is ready. He noted that at the present Pickaway and Fayette seem the most interested.

He asked commissioners to set a date to meet with the engineer so the plan can be fully explained. Commissioners suggested a joint meeting with Fayette County commissioners might be a good idea at this stage of the plan and told him they would set a date after talking with them.

Blaney noted the landfill operation on the Bill Barthelmas Farm in Wayne Twp. does have a limited capacity. He also suggested a representative of the city of Circleville should be invited to the meeting.

Present at Monday's meeting were commissioner Dick T. Tootle, Wayne Hines and L. Robert Liston.

Nader Attacks Oil Companies

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has accused the major oil companies of irresponsibility and collusion in fostering what he termed a phony energy crisis, by reducing the supply of fuel and raising the price of oil and gasoline.

He called for a national energy policy to protect the consumer rather than to benefit the oil companies.

Speaking at the University of Kentucky Monday night, he charged that President Nixon was not interested in pursuing a policy of consumer protection—and said the only evidence of any attempt to solve the energy shortage was raising the price of fuel in order to reduce the demand.

Central State Starts Rebuilding Campus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Despite an estimated $30 million in tornado damages, Central State University hopes to be totally functioning next September.

The damage estimate, which had ranged as high as $70 million, was placed on the facility Monday by James A. Norton, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

Norton appeared before the State Controlling Board to gain release of $1 million in emergency repair funds. The release was granted quickly.

Norton said the school would not be back to normal when it reopens "but hopefully (it will be) very serviceable to the students."

He estimated that $20 million will be reimbursed by federal disaster funds. He said another $10 million would come from already approved capital expenditures for the school.

Forty-four buildings were damaged by the tornado, which first struck nearby Xenia. Norton said 16 of the structures would be razed, while 28 could be restored.

Henry Whitcomb, fiscal officer for the Board of Regents, said he would probably be coming before the controlling board for an additional $2 or $2.5 million advance. "The federal government has been pouring help in there," he said. He estimated it would cost "two to three times as much" to construct buildings today that could withstand tornado damages, which the older campus structures did.

The board also released $512,836 to pay the Ohio National Guard for personnel costs on tornado duty April 3-10. The guard plans to remain on duty until Friday.

A spokesman for the Ohio adjutant general's office said there would be no federal reimbursement, except to rebuild two armories in the area "practically destroyed" by the tornado.

Goodrich Sets Outlays

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—B.F. Goodrich plans to spend $150 million this year and the same amount next year on capital expansion projects, the firm said Monday in announcing first-quarter earnings.

A spokesman said Goodrich domestic sales outpaced general U.S. manufacturing for the first time in recent history.

Net income for the first three months totaled $14.98 million or $1.01 per share on sales of $442.72 million, compared with the equivalent 1973 period's earnings of $13.38 million or 89 cents per share on sales of $390.41 million.

The comparison of sales with general U.S. production covered the period from the fourth quarter of 1970 to the last quarter last year, the spokesman said. He said Goodrich domestic sales increased 49 per cent, compared with the 24 per cent growth in U.S. manufacturing output.

He added that manufacturing growth usually outdistanced the firm's sales advance but that company sales usually plunged more rapidly when the economy headed downward over-all.

It was the second loss in as many starts in the league for the Tigers. Overall they have a record of two wins and three losses.

Bill Bergey Slates Jump From Bengals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Bruising veteran defender Bill Bergey could be a lame-duck linebacker for the Cincinnati Bengals the next two seasons if he carries out his plans to jump to the new World Football League.

The 29-year-old New York native said Monday he'll join Norfolk's WFL franchise in 1976.

Bergey said Bengals Coach Paul Brown told him: "Life is too short not to grab an opportunity."

But a later official announcement by the National Football League club indicated the Bengals were angry at the prospects of Bergey spending two more years with Cincinnati while under contract with another team.

Bergey vowed "I'll play as hard as ever."

Cincinnati's No. 2 draft choice in 1969, Bergey was named American Football League "rookie of the year." The Arkansas State graduate played on two Central Division title teams.

The Braves scored four runs in the first on a homerun by Scott Pontius, and a homerun by Steve Rawlins with Jeff Reichelderfer and Mark Justus on base.

The winning pitcher was Tim Justus, a freshman. He went all the way, fanning 14, walking six and hitting two batters. He was touched for three hits. The losing pitcher was Rod Martin. He fanned three, walked five and gave up seven hits.

Hits by the Aces were all singles by Jim Destadio, Russ Martin and Doug Starnier.

Logan Elm is now 2-1 in the Mid State and 4-2 overall. A game with Washington C. H. originally scheduled today has been canceled and instead the Braves will be playing at Millersport in a makeup game in Mid State League.

Neil Cusack Winner Of Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — There's an old Irish saying in wishing friends good luck: "May the wind be always at your back." Young Neil Cusack must have had it in the back of his mind in winning the 78th Boston A.A. Marathon.

Cusack, a 22-year-old East Tennessee State College student from Limerick, Ireland, realized he had victory in hand Monday after conquering "Heartbreak Hill," about five miles from the finish line in the 26-mile, 385-yard run from Hopkinton to Boston.

and gave up three hits. He was relieved by Brent Mancini who walked two, didn't have any strikeouts and was touched for three hits.

Circleville scored single runs in the top of the second, third, fourth and sixth innings. Greenfield scored one run in the bottom of the third inning, one in the bottom of the fourth, two in the fifth and two in the sixth.

The Tigers had six errors in the game while Greenfield played without an error.

The Tigers are scheduled to play a league game at Unioto Wednesday, will host Miami Trace Thursday and Washington C. H. Friday.

was named the club's Most Valuable Player by fans in 1970.

He would become the second Bengal to move to the WFL if he signs.

"I have not signed anything," Bergey insisted. He said he would be flying to Norfolk this week to discuss the offer.

Norfolk, formerly the Washington Ambassadors, announced it would officially sign two NFL "superstars" Wednesday. The team moved to Norfolk when a lease could not be arranged for use of Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

"There is nothing we could do," said the Bengal release. "He was already committed before he talked to us. It is a definite blow to the Bengals players and their hopes for a championship season."

Brown said Bergey's loss will be "a big disappointment to me. All I can say is that our statement explains where I stand."

Bergey's brother Bruce recently signed with Portland's WFL club.

Bergey said Brown was not "bitter or sour about it. He was very pleasant to talk to, and when we finished we shook hands."

"He said he would have told his own son the same thing."

Lamonica May Join New League

ANAMHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A report that Oakland Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonica had agreed to terms with the Southern California Sun was denied Monday night by an official of the World Football League team.

The San Francisco Chronicle said it had learned that Lamonica would announce signing a million dollar, multi-year contract in news conference Tuesday.

Sun General Manager Curly Morrison said Monday night, however, that Lamonica had not signed with the team although negotiations with the Raider quarterback were continuing and agreement could be near.

"I'll say this, we're fairly close but we still have some negotiating to do," Morrison said.

Lamonica, 33, would be the second quarterback to leave the Raiders for the WFL. Ken Stabler signed a million dollar contract with the Birmingham Americans starting in 1976 after completion of two years remaining on his Raider contract.

Lamonica would be free to join the Sun for the 1975 season after playing out his option in the coming season."

Lamonica played with the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League before coming to Oakland in 1967.

Phillies Top Cardinals, 3-2

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Two opposing runners tried for the extra base Monday night. Larry Bowa made it; Lou Brock didn't.

Bowa scored from first base on Del Unser's single in the eighth inning. Brock didn't score in the sixth after stealing second and watching Philadelphia catcher Bob Boone throw the baseball into center field.

"Brock tries to intimidate you on the bases," explained Philadelphia second baseman Dave Cash, who threw Brock out at the plate after chasing Boone's errant heave. "I saw him go, but I knew he couldn't outrun the ball."

And with Brock off the basepaths, the Cardinals couldn't outscore the Phillies—dropping a 3-2 decision despite two home runs by Reggie Smith.

In other National League games, the Atlanta Braves blanked the San Diego Padres 6-0 and the Houston Astros trimmed the San Francisco Giants 3-1.

In the American League, the Detroit Tigers nipped the Boston Red Sox 1-0, the Milwaukee Brewers topped the Baltimore Orioles 6-1, the California Angels blasted the Minnesota Twins 8-1, and the Oakland A's defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-3 in 13 innings.

Brock's daring play may have inspired the 155-pound Bowa's attempt.

"I've always made it a habit to run hard," said Bowa. "It was a gamble. If I'm out, I'm the goat."

But Bowa made good his gamble. Cash was on second and Bowa on first when Unser slapped a single off second baseman Ted Sizemore's glove. As the ball skittered

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unruliness. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can thus be prevented. Shun extremes.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Teamwork will be important now, so make it a point to associate and work with those whose interests and aims are similar to your own.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Mercury influences stimulate your ingenuity, adaptability and capacity for extra work and production on short notice. All will be rewarded.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Day calls for the utmost discretion. Be sure you do not offend friends or co-workers by thoughtless words. Work out disagreements, if any, with logic — and graciousness.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Make your schedule a flexible one. There are possibilities of changes and variations in certain situations — all promising to be beneficial.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Business and financial matters slated for immediate advancement; also for future gains. But take no risks; conservative management stressed.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Not much planetary help here. How the day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your wits to project the effective and eliminate the mediocre.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A tabulation of "musts" may uncover a weak program — one that should be pepped up to show your abilities to better advantage. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): If someone deserves your time and talents, give where it will help, but refrain where too much is expected. And don't promise more than you can deliver.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Care needed in both budgetary and domestic matters. Also, avoid restlessness and changeability — both tendencies now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Go after the big gains but do not expect to have things your way all along the line. Be prepared for some opposition and you can meet it more easily.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Introduce a new note — perhaps a new approach — to give more spark to day's doings. Output will substantially improve.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a high order of intelligence, a lively imagination and a delightful personality. You are more conservative than many other Arians and may devote a great deal of time to "causes" — either civic or humanitarian. Your talents are considerable and, with determination, you could achieve almost any goal you desire. But, unlike many others of your Sign, you do not seem to possess that inner drive which sends them ahead in leaps and bounds.

You are more inclined to be sporadic in your efforts — a "whiz" one day, listless the next. Try to maintain an even pace and you'll get ahead more quickly — and easily. Fields in which you could reap your greatest successes: finance, teaching, writing, the law. Birthdate of: J. P. Morgan, Amer. financier; William Holden, film star.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Radio humor, says Jean Shepherd, is an art "rarer than a five-winged butterfly." He should know. He's been at the art here since 1958. This year, he was set loose nationally on NBC Radio.

For those who've never heard him, Shepherd isn't your usual Manhattan wiseguy. He's more of a free association cross between Mark Twain and Herb Shriner.

It's a pity he's only heard a few minutes on NBC's "Emphasis" on weekdays and on "Monitor" weekends. He has an uncanny ability to bring genuine Americana into verbal bas-relief.

Born in Chicago, he was raised in a northern Indiana steel mill town he never identifies, apparently for fear the Chamber of Commerce will someday hire a hit man to say hello with a load of hot slag.

Although his NBC effort and most of his local radio work concern modern persons, themes and events, much of Shepherd's fame stems from his spoken and written observations about youth in a rotting town.

He spins magnificent yarns about crappie fishing in fetid ponds, men who drink lots of boiler-makers, life at Warren G. Harding School and mythical boyhood pals like Schwartz, Flick, Broder and Cosnowski.

He is considered a master of blue-collar nostalgia. He also considers this honor a bum rap.

"I'm not a reminiscer," he groused. "I'm no more of a reminiscer than Bill Cosby. No, I'm serious. I've often wondered why, when Cosby talks about his mythical boyhood friends, he's never called nostalgia."

Shepherd, who does a 45-minute show on a local station here each weeknight, finds his audience a bit weird. They usually seem to recall only his dissertations on growing up in northern Indiana.

"I don't know why that is," he said. "I've discovered that any time you mention anything to do with childhood on the air that's as powerful to people as sex."

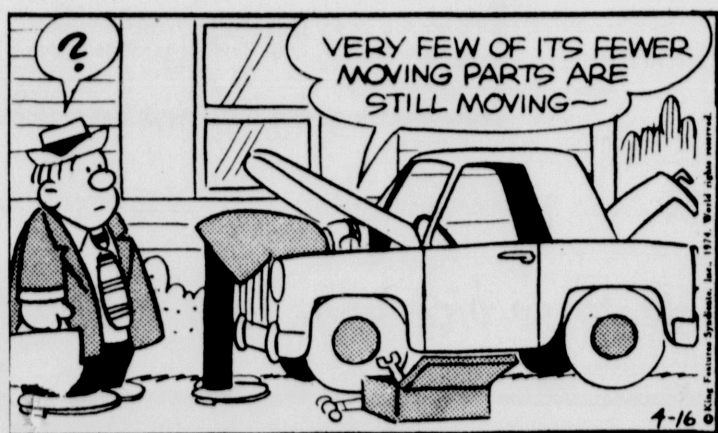

"The next thing you know, they think that's all you ever talk about," he said, referring to childhood. "I'll do three shows of satire on Norman Mailer and never hear a word about it, except from out of town."

Alas, the local radio image he hates may wind up on national TV because he wrote "Wanda Hickey's Night of Golden Memories and Other Disasters," a collection of short stories about his adolescence.

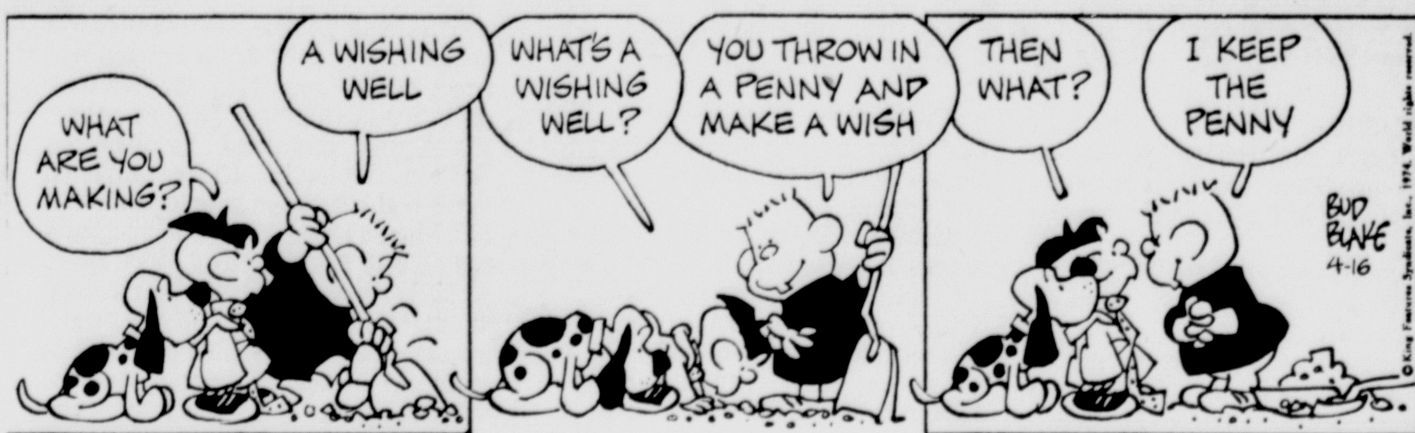

He says there's a strong possibility the book will be made into a TV movie this fall. The producers, he added, "want to use it as the basis for a series and I'd work in it both as a writer and performer."

"They want to use an interesting technique, do it more or less in the 'Our Town' style, where I'd step in and out of scenes."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Herbert Philbrick Leads Quiet Life

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Herbert A. Philbrick, the counterspy famous for leading "Three Lives," is spending his fourth life in this quiet Washington suburb.

"Who am I today?" asks the 59-year-old Philbrick, then answers, "Just an ordinary citizen."

It is just 25 years since Philbrick made a surprise court appearance in Boston and testified against 11 alleged Communist conspirators. All were convicted and spent five years in jail, although the high court later threw out the Smith Act, under which they were convicted. The court ruled that an overt act of conspiracy was needed, not just talk.

And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist, and FBI counterspy.

"It was like a thunderbolt in the courtroom when I walked in, since four of the 11 knew me personally," Philbrick recalled in an interview. And the public became aware of Philbrick's three lives as citizen, Communist and FBI counterspy.

But the furor seems far removed from the brick colonial house where Philbrick now lives with his 31-year-old second wife, Shirley.

Niger Army Chief Claims Famine Brought Takeover

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The army chief of staff in drought-ravaged Niger says he deposed President Hamani Diori to relieve "the catastrophic situation" in the poor, black African country, Radio Niamey reported.

"The army had to take its responsibilities," Lt. Col. Seyni Kountie said in a broadcast Monday from Niamey, Niger's capital. "We could not remain with our arms folded" when the people were no longer assured a meal a day.

He said Diori's administration, in office ever since the country achieved independence from France in 1960, was guilty of "injustice, corruption, selfishness and indifference."

There were no reports of violence during the takeover. Radio Niamey said calm prevailed and the 2,500-man army was in "full control."

The Niger radio did not say what had happened to Diori. But the French state television network in Paris said Kountie told it in a telephone interview that the president and his family were under house arrest and were "being well treated."

Niger, a landlocked country of 4.2 million nomads and small farmers, is the 15th black African country south of the Sahara to come under military rule. It is one of Africa's poorest countries and has been one of those hit hardest by the murderous, six-year drought in West Africa below the Sahara. Thousands have died, and millions of head of livestock have been destroyed.

Little is known of Kountie, a 43-year-old French-trained soldier who became chief of staff in 1973.

The chief of staff announced that the constitution was suspended, the National Assembly dissolved and all political organizations suppressed. He said a supreme council of officers would be created soon to run the government and he imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Diori, a 57-year-old former schoolteacher, was a soft-spoken moderate who often acted as mediator in inter-African disputes, including the Nigerian civil war. Foreign diplomats praised his even-handed leadership, and some commented that if there was corruption in his government it was probably less than in many other countries.

In recent years Diori had tried to reduce Niger's heavy economic dependence on France, and to gain international financial support for a plan to help the sub-Sahara recover from the drought. But his vision of some $3 billion in foreign aid for the area was largely ignored.

Egypt Threatens To Use Missiles Against Israel

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Egyptian press warned today that Egypt would use longrange missiles against Israel if the Jewish state escalated military operations against Syria and Lebanon.

The editor of the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram, Aly Amin, said ground-to-ground missiles "were among several other modern weapons we did not use during the October war."

Egypt, Amin noted, did not discharge a single soldier of its army following the October war.

"Egypt would not hesitate to resume fighting once again if Israel committed aggression against any Arab country," Amin warned.

Westfall Board To Level Williamsport Building

At a meeting of the Westfall Board of Education on April 8, the low bid was accepted for removing the Williamsport School Building. The low bid for $9,877 was submitted by John N. Bowers, Circleville. Eleven different firms had submitted bids for the work and ranged from Bowers' low bid to a high bid of $64,800.

The agreement calls for the removal of the building and all materials, leveling the site and filling the site to within 12 inches of the surface with brick mortar or plaster. The remaining 12 inches is to be filled with soil suitable for the seeding of grass. Several items such as desks, tables, student desks and class pictures have been moved from the building to the gymnasium which will not be razed.

Much of the time at the regular meeting of the board on Monday night was devoted to the employment of certified personnel for the 1974-75 school year.

Supplemental contracts were awarded to Miss Ann Posey for junior high girls' track and Richard Everman for junior high boys' track for the current season.

The board approved use of district buildings as follows: Jackson School, for 4-H leaders and advisers meeting on April 17; Monroe School, for 4-H meetings on Wednesdays from April until August and for the Monroe Alumni Banquet on June 1; Westfall High School baseball diamond for the Williamsport pony league May 1 through August 15; Westfall football field and auditorium for the Monroe Men's Club Summer Gospel Sing on August 15.

Candidates for graduation as submitted by high school principal Robert Debo were accepted by the board. The board also approved the employment of Mrs. Nancy Snyder as a substitute secretary for the district and approved substitute teacher lists 14 and 15 as submitted by the County superintendent.

The regular meeting was adjourned with the resolution to reconvene for disposition of final business on April 29 at 8 p.m.
